FIRE DESTROYS KENTON STATE GUARD ARMORY

Two Guardsmen and Fireman Hurt in Blaze That Threatens Business District.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Dec. 18 — The 53-year-old National Guard Armory, just off the courthouse square, was destroyed Wednesday afternoon by a fire which threatened the business district for four hours before being brought under control.

One fireman and two National Guardsmen were burned in the spectacular blaze which started when oil being used to clean rifles exploded.

Harold Radcliffe, 34, a guardsman, suffered second degree burns and is in serious condition today in Antonio hospital. Paul Ritzler, 25, the other guardsman injured, suffered first degree burns and was released from the hospital after treatment. Kenton Fireman Gus Rodenberger was taken to McKitrick hospital for treatment.

Ritzler said he and Radcliffe were cleaning guns when the oil they were using exploded. A third guardsman, Dale Pfeiffer, present in the gun room when the blast occurred, escaped injury.

Fire Starts at 3 P. M.

Fire departments from Bellefontaine, Belle Center and Forest responded to the general alarm given by the Kenton department shortly after 3 p. m. when the fire started. Firemen managed to bring the blaze under control about 8 p. m. A "favorable wind" was credited by firemen with keeping the flames from engulfing adjoining business blocks.

The Eagles lodge hall, next door to the armory, was badly damaged by smoke and water.

Offices in the courthouse, a block south, were without heat today as the armory boiler furnished heat for the county offices, the county jail and the sheriff's residence. Three prisoners were transferred to the city jail. Sheriff Randall Clark and family moved in with a sister while new heating arrangements are being made.

Lauren Garmon, chairman of the Board of Hardin county commissioners, said efforts are being made to locate a portable boiler to be set up in the street as an emergency measure. The boiler will be hooked into the underground steam heat lines leading from the armory to the courthouse. Garman was hopeful the arrangement could be completed within 24 hours. Meanwhile the county offices are remaining open.

Complete estimates of the property damage have not been completed but 2nd Lt. William McFarland, acting commander of Company E, 148th Infantry, O.N.G., estimated his outfit lost $15,000 worth of uniforms, equipment and weapons, including 30 rifles.

ARMORY LOSS WON'T HALT GUARD WORK

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, Dec. 18 — The $30,000 fire which destroyed the Kenton armory of the Ohio National Guard will not interrupt training of Hardin county guardsmen.

Adjutant General Chester W. Goble reported today that the guard would attempt to find temporary quarters immediately and added that "I anticipate no interruption of guard training."

Goble received a firsthand report of the fire from Brig. Gen. Kenneth Cooper, his chief of staff, who was sent to the scene last night. Goble then sent a three-man board of inquiry to investigate the blaze.

The board is composed of Lt. Col. Richard Graham, Maj. John Elliott and Capt. Harry Malone.

Goble said a survey must first be made of the damage before a rebuilding date can be determined. This, however, was before he received Cooper's report. The chief of staff indicated that rebuilding might start about the first of the year.

Cooper reported the fire started when three men were cleaning cosmolene, a protective grease, from a shipment of new rifles. The blaze spread rapidly through the 53-year-old building. The roof fell in, but the heavy reinforced stone sidewalls may be salvaged, Cooper said.

Goble said most of the firearms were locked in a fireproof vault and added that "outside of a little water damage, they are all right."

However, uniforms and other equipment in a locked supply room were destroyed, although all records were reported saved.

The state acquired the building by purchase from Hardin county in 1939. The purchase price was $30,000.

HUNT SLAYER OF 3 IN TOLEDO

Ex-Convict Husband of One Victim Sought in Triple Killing.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 18—Authorities sought an ex-convict today for questioning in the bizarre slaying of an expectant mother and her parents, and the abandonment of her two infant sons in an unheated house without food.

The bodies of Mrs. Lorette Osinski, 21, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ditmyer, were found yesterday. They died from bullet wounds through the heart, and probably were shot Saturday, Coroner Paul Hohly said.

Huddled near the bodies, suffering from hunger and exposure, were Mrs. Osinski's sons, John, one, and James, two. John died early this morning.

Detective Capt. Ralph Murphy issued an arrest order for Mrs. Osinski's estranged husband, James Osinski, 37, whom Murphy described as an ex-convict with a criminal career that began at 17.

Murphy said Mrs. Osinski had her husband placed under a $200 peace bond three weeks ago. She said then, Murphy reported, that Osinski entered the Ditmyer home and beat both her and her parents.

Seek To Protect Wife

Subsequently the Ditmyers moved into the Osinski home to "protect my sister from her husband," their son, Jerome Ditmyer, 34, said.

Police broke into the house yesterday after neighbors reported receiving a telephone call from a man identifying himself as Osinski, who asked whether they had seen Mrs. Osinski.

Ditmyer was found seated in the living room with a bullet wound in his chest. His wife lay in the dining room, a bullet wound in her back. Mrs. Osinski, who was six months pregnant, was on a stair landing. She had been shot three times.

Police said the slayer apparently entered the front door and shot Ditmyer, then killed Mrs. Ditmyer who may have appeared from the kitchen.

A broken glass bowl and one of Mrs. Osinski's slippers were at the foot of the stairs, indicating she tried to escape by running upstairs.

Banana peels littered the kitchen floor and the refrigerator door was open. Police said the little boys apparently had only fruit from the refrigerator to eat during their three days alone in the house.

Neighbors said they had not seen the family since Saturday afternoon. Newspapers of Satur-

Christmas Seals On Sale In Downtown District

Because numerous calls for Christmas health seals have been received in the last few days, the seals will be placed on sale at the Marion County bank, National City bank and the Marion county health office, Mrs. W. E. Miley, executive secretary of the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association, announced. They will be available immediately at those places, or if persons who did not receive seals earlier through the mail will call Mrs. Miley at 4687, seals will be mailed on receipt of the calls, she said. Last report on amount of sales listed a total of $3,448.95. This year, to those who have not responded with the money or have not returned their seals by Christmas, reminders will be sent out early in January, Mrs. Miley stated.

SAY SOVIETS MIGHT JOIN ATOM CONTROL

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 18—The United States and Russia turned today to their third struggle over atomic energy with a U.S. delegate predicting Russia might eventually change her mind and join other nations in a sweeping world pact controlling the atom.

The working committee of the United Nations atomic energy commission was called to meet today to plan work on the third phase of its long search for atomic agreement.

As the delegates completed preparations for this meeting, Frederick H. Osborn, U.S. deputy on the atomic commission, told a news conference in his Manhattan office the kremlin had made a "number of basic economic and political mistakes." He said he felt that there is "great ignorance" in the kremlin on the sincerity of proposals for an international atomic development authority, backed by the U.S. and approved by 10 other members of the 12-nation commission.

Declaring he had not heard a word from the Russians and that neither the Russians nor the U.S. delegates had made any attempt to settle their differences since the last commission meeting in September, Osborn said that no one country desires to take the responsibility of breaking off the atomic talks.

He said, instead, that the U.S. was anxious to continue negotiations.

"I feel," he declared, "that as the world and the Soviet situations change there is increasing likelihood that they (the Russians) will desire seriously to negotiate a treaty and for that reason it is worthwhile keeping negotiations open as long as possible."

Osborn said he had no information on Russian research in atomic energy, but that he "guessed they are doing everything they can."

Russia Still Believes UN Will Work, Gromyko Says

By ROBERT MANNING
United Press Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko of the Soviet Union said today the people of Russia, while disappointed with the United Nations so far because of American policy, still believe the UN can become "an effective instrument in the struggle for preservation of international peace and security."

Gromyko declared in an interview with the United Press that the UN's future hinges on the willingness of the great powers to cooperate.

He said, however, that the breakdown of the council of foreign ministers in London would "not make the work of the United Nations any easier" and warned that an effective system of world atomic energy control may be impossible unless the United States alters its position in the UN.

Gromyko asserted that "somebody" has been inciting the Arab people since the United Nations decision to partition Palestine, but he said the violence occurring there was to be expected following the UN action.

"Somebody is inciting the Arab people in Palestine and not only in Palestine," he said. "But I do not believe this is in the interests of either the Jewish or the Arab people.

Says "Must Be Stopped"

Later, in checking over his answers in the interview, the Soviet diplomat added the current bloodshed in Palestine "must be stopped in the interests of peace, including peace in the Middle East."

Gromyko granted the interview at his unpretentious Manhattan headquarters in a built-over apartment house on the eve of a resumption of negotiations in the UN atomic energy commission.

He loosed a new attack on American opposition to Russia's proposal for outlawing atomic bombs and said "the United States does not wish to establish effective international control over atomic energy although its representatives speak as if the govern-

HOUSE GIVEN BILL TO CUT INCOME TAX

Would Strike 7,400,000 from List of Taxpayers in Low Income Group.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—A $5,600,000,000 income tax cutting bill which would strike 7,400,000 low income and elderly persons from the tax rolls was introduced today by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn).

For the 47,000,000 (million-correct) other taxpayers the measure, referred to by its author as "veto proof," proposes tax reductions ranging from 58 per cent in the lowest bracket to 10 per cent on higher incomes.

Knutson, chairman of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, said he expects the bill to be the first major business when congress reconvenes in January. The reductions would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

They would slash tax revenues by $1,600,000,000 more than the $4,000,000,000 Knutson measure which President Truman twice killed with vetoes earlier this year.

Here is what the new bill would do:

1. Increase the present $500 personal exemption to $600, thus freeing 6,000,000 low income persons from tax paying and providing some reductions for all other taxpayers. This would reduce revenues by about $2,000,000,000 (billion).

2. Apply the "community property" principle to all states, permitting marries couples to split the family income equally for tax reporting purposes in order to take advantage of lower surtax brackets. This principle now is applicable in a dozen states by local law. General application would cost the treasury about $600,000,000.

3. Provide, in addition to the $100 added exemption and "community property," split, 10 to 30 per cent-graduated reductions as follows:

A. 30 per cent for those with incomes after reductions and exemptions not exceeding $1,000. There now are 29,200,000 taxpayers in this group.

B. 30 to 20 per cent, on a sliding scale, for those with taxable incomes between $1,000 and $1,396. This would affect 14,5000,000 persons.

C. 20 per cent for those with incomes between $1,396 and $4,000. There are 9,100,000 such taxpayers.

D. 20 per cent on the first $4,-

1947 FARM EARNINGS EXCEED 30 BILLIONS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — The nation's farmers earned about $30,300,000,000 in cash this year, the agricultural department reported today.

Receipts from farm products were estimated at $30,000,000,000, or 19 per cent more than last year.

Government payments—largely for carrying out soil conservation practices—totaled about $340,000,000 a reduction of 60 per cent from last year when subsidies were paid to encourage production of dairy products, beef cattle, sheep and lambs.

Farmers' gross income was estimated at $34,600,000,000, or about 20 per cent above last year. Gross income includes cash receipts and the value of farm production consumed on the farm and the rental value of farm dwellings. Production expenses were estimated at about $16,600,000,000. Deducting expenses from gross income, farmers realized a net income of about $18,000,000,000, or about 20 per cent more than last year.

The volume of farm marketings in 1947 was estimated to be about 3 per cent above 1946. Higher prices, rather than increased marketings, contributed the greater portion of this year's increase. Prices of all farm products gained an average of 19 per cent during the year.

Cash receipts from livestock and livestock products were estimated at $16,900,000,000, or 23 per cent more than last year. Receipts from crops were estimated at about $13,100,000,000, up 20 per cent.

New Ohio Public Service Co. Power Unit Dedicated Today

Part of $40,000,000 Construction Program for Marion and Other Points in State.

Dedication today of a new 65,000 kilowatt electric generating turbine in southeastern Ohio by the Ohio Public Service Co. and announcement that extensive additions to facilities of the company in Marion are nearing completion, puts the company's expansion program well under way.

The new generating unit is in the R. E. Burger generating plant on the Ohio river below Bellaire, O. Its maximum capacity of 65,000 kilowatts will increase the total capacity of the Burger station to 130,000 kilowatts.

Formal dedication services held at the plant today were attended by Harold J. Grigsby, OPS vice president and general manager of the Marion division, and Marion Mayor Harry L. Dowler.

The Bellaire installation, together with improvements now nearing completion in Marion, are part of the comany's five-year $40,000,000 construction program.

The local improvements include construction of the Chester C. Roberts substation on Garden City pike and building of a 43-mile high tension line from near Ashland to the substation.

Transmission Line Completed

The high tension transmission line, which has a capacity of 132,000 volts has been completed within the last few days and has just been energized, Mr. Grigsby said today.

The new line and substation link the Marion division's generating facilities at the Scioto power plant with other company units to make a completely inter-connected system of current generating and transmission systems. This will enable the company to draw current from the Scioto plant, or to feed additional current to Marion users when needed.

Although the Roberts substation and the high tension line are completed, final connection of Marion lines into the whole OPS system is awaiting arrival here of switchboard panels. Some other finishing touches also are yet to be made to the interior of the building.

Assures Constant Service

Completion of the inter-system connection will assure Marion elelctric service even in the event of a major breakdown at the Scioto plant, since current can be drawn from other OPS generating plants through the new high tension line.

Mr. Grigsby said that since 1921 the Scioto plant has been Marion's only source of electric current and any failure of equipment there meant at least partial interruption in service. Under the new system the company also will be able to maintain and overhaul the large generating units on schedule without service interruption.

Also ready to go into operation this weekend in the Marion division is a new two-way radio system for contact between the substation and repair and maintenance crews in the field. Ten cars and trucks stationed throughout the Marion division's district will be equipped with receiving and sending apparatus. The system is expected to speed up restoration of service in case of line breaks or other failures, since company officials will be in constant communication with repair crews, Mr. Grigsby said.

The 175-foot broadcasting tower for the radio system is located at the Roberts substation, which was named in honor of the late Chester C. Roberts, president of the electric company before it became a part of the OPS.

All in Communication

Another unique communication system soon will link the Marion substation with the entire OPS territory. Known as a "carrier system," it will enable the central dispatcher, located in Massillon, to carry on two-way conversations with all substation operators, their

PRISON DOORS CLOSE BEHIND SHAPPARD

Given No. 3567 in Section Reserved for Life Termers.

Ray Shappard was given into the custody of Warden F. D. Henderson at the Ohio penitentiary at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday to begin a life sentence for the murder of Roxie Ann Green.

Sheriff LeRoy Retterer and Deputy Edgar Fink took Shappard to Columbus shortly after noon. The prisoner made his farewells at the county jail without fanfare. His wife and two children were not present, having visited the jail the previous day.

Shappard who seemed cheerful during the short trip down to the state capital choked up over his leavetaking of Sheriff Retterer at the penitentiary.

After thanking the sheriff for his consideration, Shappard attempted to wish Retterer a "Merry Christmas" but couldn't quite make the grade, breaking into tears before he could complete the phrase.

On the way down, he expressed the hope that he could be given a cook's job in the prison. He had served a part of his time in the Army as a cook.

Upon seeing the penitentiary walls and prison layout, which extends over a considerable area in downtown Columbus, he remarked his new stone home seemed a lot larger than he'd thought it to be.

Shappard, who is now No. 3567 among the life prisoners, was immediately sent to the prison hospital for the routine check, before being assigned a cell in the block reserved for life prisoners.

NO LIVING COST BILL PROBABLE

Opposition in and Outside G.O.P. Ranks Seen as Special Session Obstacles.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Signs of a Republican split plus Democratic opposition to G.O.P. proposals left it almost certain today that congress will go home for Christmas without passing any cost of living legislation.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) bucked determined Democratic opposition in a last-hour attempt to get senate approval of a bill which would let business men get together voluntarily to divide up scarce commodities and materials without running the risk of anti-trust prosecutions.

But the time element was such that Taft told reporters the senate would have to vote early in the afternoon—an action Democrats seemed likely to prevent—to leave any chance that the house might reconsider the measure before congress adjourns Friday.

On top of this was evidence there may be a sharp division between Taft and the house Republican leadership on whether congress should act on any anti-inflation issue now or consign the whole problem to the regular session starting in January.

Report Some Displeased

Some house Republicans were said to be peeved at Taft for bringing up the bill, similar in some respects to a measure which died in the house Monday when the required two-thirds majority refused to consider it under a "gag" procedure blocking off all amendments.

These Republicans were said to feel the Democrats, who opposed the take it or leave it" procedure solidly, must take the most of blame for failure to enact any legislation and that Taft was sim-

FOREIGN AID FUND ACTION UNCERTAIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—The administration pinned on the senate today its hopes of restoring house cuts in foreign aid funds.

There was no immediate indication, however, what that chamber would do about either: (A) the $88,000,000 slice carved out of the $597,000,000 winter relief program for France, Italy and Austria or (B) the $300,000,000 slash in the $490,000,000 asked by the Army to meet emergency occupation costs abroad.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the senate appropriations committee announced immediately after the house stamped its [illegible] approval on the [illegible] yesterday that his group would meet to consider the action this afternoon.

NAMES TO BE MADE PUBLIC AS AVAILABLE

Information To Be Provided as Rapidly as It Can Be Gathered.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson promised a senate committee today to give it and the public a list of heavy traders in commodities "as rapidly as we can gather the information and prepare the lists."

He told the senate appropriations committee in a closed door session that "if your decision to demand the names remains unchanged" he will make them public as soon as possible.

Anderson was questioned by the committee for two hours and 35 minutes in the closed session. Then reporters were admitted and a stenographer read to them his record of what had been said.

Statement Read

The transcript recorded that Anderson had testified:

"In the event that you as a committee, without further action by the congress, insist on having the names and addresses of all traders along with the statistical information called for in your subpoena, I shall not permit myself to be charged with shielding anyone by a refusal to grant your request."

The committee served a subpoena on Anderson yesterday directing him to appear before it this morning with all information he has on commodity trading. The group is inquiring into reports that government "insiders" have profited from speculations in wheat and other commodities.

Anderson's remarks about "shielding" apparently was a reference to statements by Harold E. Stassen, Republican presidential hopeful, that "insiders" have profited by trading in commodities.

Anderson himself has stipulated that if congress formally calls on him to make public a list of heavy traders, then names of member of congress shall not be excluded.

In testimony to the committee, the secretary urged again that congress approve a resolution calling on him to turn over the list. He said that would be the "easy, better method."

"All that is necessary is the passing of a joint resolution, which the President will approve," Anderson said.

He contended that would preserve the proper relationship between the legislative and executive branches of the government.

Constitutional Question

His stand there raised a question whether congress had constitutional authority to subpoena information from the executive branch of the government.

After Anderson had explained his refusal to turn over the list to the committee, members voted to support a joint senate-house resolution which the secretary said would relieve him of the necessity for withholding it.

Asked whether his reasons for withholding the information were "legalistic," Anderson said he does not know.

"All I know is the circumstances under which it was granted," he said. "I know of the pledge that has been given to the people who supplied it."

Provision Against Publicity

The law under which Anderson gathers the information from exchanges and brokers provides that that it is not to be made public.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH), who signed the subpoena, nevertheless told reporters:

"The senate will get all the facts and all the names before this ends."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), a committee member, added that "the secretary will find the committee very reasonable on physical impossibilities."

RITES FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM SATURDAY

Services To Be Held at Marengo for Mrs. Firestone.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Eda Warner Firestone, wife of Rev. Samuel Morton Firestone, pastor of the Marengo and Fulton Methodist churches in Morrow county, will be held Saturday. She was killed in a traffic accident in a Chicago suburb Tuesday night, and her husband was injured seriously. He was to be moved from Oak Forest infirmary in Chicago to Wesley Memorial hospital there today. His condition was described today as "still critical." The Firestones were enroute to meet a son, S. M. Firestone Jr. of Appleton, Wis., and his family to return with them to their parsonage home in Marengo for the holidays when the accident occurred.

The body is scheduled to arrive in Marion tonight to be taken to the Jacobs funeral home in Marengo. Friends may call Friday to pay respects. The body will not be viewed. Services will be conducted in the Marengo church at 9 a. m. Saturday and in the Danford funeral home in Wooster at 2:30 p. m. Dr. John D. Green, superintendent of the Mansfield district of the denomination, and Rev. Frank LePage of the Cardington Methodist church, father-in-law of S. M. Firestone Jr., will officiate at Marengo. Rev. C. D. Firster and Rev. Ted Mayer will be in charge at Wooster Burial will be Sunday at Hamilton, Ind.

Mrs. Firestone was born in Wooster Feb. 22, 1888, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Warner. She lived at one time in Indiana. A graduate of Wooster High school, she attended Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware and a missionary training school at Cincinnati, where she prepared for rural church work. Her marriage to Rev. Firestone was July 27, 1922. They observed their silver wedding anniversary at the time of the annual Northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist church at Lakeside in June. At that time Rev. Firestone was transferred from pastorate of the Sycamore Methodist church to the Marengo and Fulton churches.

Surviving with Rev. Firestone and the son are a daughter, Mrs. Helen Murphy of Zanesville and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Bryce Ames of Beach City, O., a sister and brothers, Mrs. Carl Hornberger of Glen Ellen, Ill., Harry S. Warner of Columbus, O., Clyde W. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Glen Y. of South Bend, Ind; and Paul J. of Orlando, Fla.

MOTION PICTURES SHOWN AT PENSIONERS' MEETING

A musical program and pictures of the scene in the nation's capital were presented at the weekly meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion county Friday afternoon in the Eagles' hall. Patriotic exercises by the group opened the meeting.

Rev. Orville Jones of Columbus, lecturer and motion picture operator for the CIO in Ohio, gave an illustrated lecture and showed pictures of the White House, congressional library, Mt. Vernon and other points of interest in Washington, and also "The House I Live In," featuring Frank Sinatra.

Christian Ruth and William Sergent sang "The Love of God," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Eva Parish and numbers by the choir included "Throw Out the Life Line," "Love Lifted Me," "Some Bright Morning" and "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?" and the program closed with the numbers, "I Need Jesus," "There Will Be No Dark Valley," "Sweet Bye and Bye," "Ninety and Nine" and "Christ Receiveth Sinful Men," by the audience. Arthur Hershner, president, read items of interest from "The Flash."

A chicken dinner was served to the members and guests. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Eva Parish and her committee.

Wedemeyer Reports

GEN. WEDEMEYER has told a congressional committee he favors continued aid to China. Without divulging the contents of his top secret report which the President hasn't yet seen fit to make public, the general says the Chiang government is the only one we can "do business" with.

The general's testimony gives an indication of the tenor of his report—and the fact the President has seen fit to withhold it indicates there may be doubts about the soundness of its recommendations.

The interim aid sum asked for China is $60,000,000. No one has ventured to estimate how much would be needed for long-term aid. It might be 5 billion, 10 billion or 20 billion for all anyone knows. If there were assurance that any amount within our capacity would shore up the Chiang government, it might be a worthy investment. But the graft-ridden, morally bankrupt regime in China can't be saved by dollars or shiploads of supplies. First of all it needs moral regeneration and an injection of honesty to filter down from the top.

Meanwhile, any aid to China will be part of the "perimeter" tactics which are likely to do little to contain communism. By pouring our resources into every apparent weak point, instead of concentrating them, we shall sap our strength.

Cynics have labeled the policy of fighting communism with dollars as "operation rat-hole." If any phase of our foreign aid policy is deserving of such an appellation, the proposed allocation for China is it.

"The Red Dean" Again

DR. HEWLETT JOHNSON, the so-called "red dean" of Canterbury, is in the news again, being rebuked a second time for his support of Communist Russia. The dean had been a leading British apologist for Russia and is a member of the board of the London Daily Worker.

Dean Johnson sees in Russia fulfillment of Christly precepts that few if any other churchmen of the western world have detected. He is the defender of government that tolerates religion only because it has been unable to eradicate it in its intensely religious people. His defense of communism as practiced in Russia embarrasses his church and his country and no doubt secretly amuses the Russian leaders.

What Dean Johnson says in behalf of Russia must be sharply discounted, for he speaks as a guileless, starry-eyed churchman who has mistaken the spires of modern Moscow for the towers of ancient Jerusalem.

Paradoxes

THIS is an era of paradoxes. Hardly a day goes by without a new one coming to the fore.

Item: Romania, a monarchy, has a Communist cabinet.

Item: The census bureau reports that both employment and unemployment decreased during November, even more puzzling than the police department which recovers more stolen cars than cars reported stolen.

Item: The government won't employ Communists, yet one could serve in congress if he could muster the votes.

Item: The Army plans to maintain more planes than the Air Force.

Item: A man earning three times as much today as in 1936 has nine times as much trouble making ends meet.

G. K. Chesterton, the prince of paradox, died too soon. He would have been fascinated at the turn the world is taking.

The 1948 Models Are Out

CALENDARS, in their tubular casings, are adding to the postman's burden these days.

There are calendars as large as artillery maps and calendars so small they can be carried in wallets. Design runs the gamut from sternly utilitarian through baroque romantic to abstractionist hen-tracks. Some calendars shout their commercial message, others speak in well-modulated, pear-shaped tones. A few confine their advertising to tiny print on the reverse side of the last sheet; the designers of these are shrewd, for they know the advertiser's name will be searched for and remembered.

In less favor these days are calendars with powdered mica snow scenes and freehand approximations of "The Adoration of The Magi." Still popular is the calendar with a thought for each day, and the weather calendar which states with bold-face finality that next July 14 will be hot and next Oct. 8 clear and cool from what size crystal ball do the seers draw their forecasts for these;

But the old reliable calendar is the one with the pretty girl smiling at those who consult it through the year's four seasons. We bid a reluctant farewell at the year's end; only the fact that an even more interesting successor has arrived by mail makes it possible to part with her at all.

Did You Know

Until 1800, soap was not within reach of the average man because of its high cost. But in that year the cost came down when a French scientist discovered soda could be made from common salt, and his research made soap available to the average man.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Products of Old Families Not All Good.

IT IS often assumed that all subversive movements are alien-inspired and financed. This is not so. Some of the most madcap movements in the United States are the prime activities of scions of the best and oldest families. Some go for blonds; some for horses; some for movements.

Old families have a way of producing about the same kind of crackpots that any other families do. And neither wealth nor poverty makes much difference, because the chemistry that makes a brain act in its own peculiar way does not seem to be class-conscious.

SOKOLSKY

Aaron Burr certainly came from a good and old family. He was born of Esther Edwards and Reverend Aaron Burr. His mother was a daughter of Reverend Jonathan Edwards, the great New England preacher; his father was the second president of Princeton university. Aaron Burr was graduated from the College of New Jersey in 1772 when he was 16 years old and started studying theology. However, he shifted to law, politics, and Tammany Hall.

Actually, few Americans were descended from an older and better family than Aaron Burr. The progenitor of the Edwards line was admitted to the general court at Hartford on May 20, 1658. His son, Richard, married Elizabeth Tuttle, and as Elizur Yale Smith, the historian says, "His life with her must have been a very unhappy one."

Granted His Freedom

At any rate, she was charged with all sorts of evils, and Richard, after living with her 23 years, and having, as Smith says, "Six known children with her," did the most unusual thing for those days in asking for a divorce "on scriptural grounds." He was accordingly released from bondage.

Yet out of this marriage of Richard Edwards and Elizabeth Tuttle came this amazing family which includes Reverend Timothy Edwards, Reverend Jonathan Edwards, and ultimately Aaron Burr. I could, in this connection, list many important other figures such as Timothy Dwight, the great president of Yale whose maternal ancestor was a Jewish merchant, Ralph Isaacs of Norwalk, Conn.

Anyhow, the point of all this genealogy is to show that the age and the distinction of family is unrelated to what a man thinks and does. It may be true, as some correspondents have written to me, that Aaron Burr was an innocent manipulated by wicked men. If a vice president can be so manipulated it is very sad, indeed. For we ought to be able to assume that a vice president knows what he does, particularly one who has studied both theology and law and who could and did discuss every known subject. Those apologists for Burr, or for any similar innocents whom we may have among us today, make out a bad case for their favorites. Lesser men, so manipulated or who do not know what they do, are locked up where their mischief does no harm.

Mostly Home Products

This country has in its history known many subversive movements; some financed from abroad; some gaining their strength from indigenous sources. Aliens have at times attempted to destroy our form of government, but more of the confusionists have been native sons, occasionally of very distinguished families. Some of them suffer from a "guilt complex." They are miserable because their ancestors did so well, particularly financially. They like to spend their ancestors' savings undoing their accomplishments. Others simply go haywire as men and women do in all stations of life. It is not often that one finds such a family as the Adams with such a consistent record of service to America.

The American Communist party, for instance, contains many of the old American names among its members and they are not by any means masquerados. These young men and women prefer to spend their inherited wealth destroying the land they inherited. It is, of course, a twisted notion, but it is theirs and they act accordingly. I sometimes wonder why the Communists who have so many fronts and organizations do not organize a millionaires' club to compete with the social register—which apparently is no longer what it used to be. They might start a "Commie 400" and admit no one to it whose first American ancestor arrived after 1776. It would be quite a showing.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

Fellow Travelers:

A Chance to Travel

A Connecticut organization is offering free a first-class one-way ticket to Moscow to any American Communist who promises to go to Russia and stay there.

The line forms on the left.

That's one Travel Opportunity you won't find listed in the Daily Worker.

The Commies are standing on their constitutional right to say anything they want to except "Goodbye."

Well do they realize that, insofar as communism is concerned, distance lends enchantment — and proximity makes for enchainment. Go back to Russia? Why the idea's revolutionary. In fact, it's downright revolting.

They'll continue to denounce us, but never to renounce us. They'd follow the party line anywhere . . . except back to Moscow.

Deadline on Inflation Program

By Walter Lippmann

IN all quarters directly responsible for enacting and operating a program to deal with the inflation one can observe a disposition not to demand very passionately, or to oppose too dogmatically, any of the measures which are under discussion. Considering what is ultimately at stake, the political temperature is as yet remarkably low.

That is due to the fact that no one is so sure he is right that the is ready to force his views on those who disagree with him. The administration, for example, realizes that if its measures for allocation, priorities, and rationing were adopted against the opposition of most of the business community and of the Republican party, they would be unworkable. It would be dangerous to have these powers if they could not be used successfully. The Republicans, on the other hand, realize that to refuse these powers would be dangerous too. For then if the inflation gets out of hand and brings on an economic crisis, they will be the popular scapegoats.

So it is also in the argument between Mr. Eccles and the commercial bankers. Mr. Eccles is not in the least inclined to impose extraordinary measures of credit control on the bankers, and then to assume the whole responsibility for the painful consequences of deflation. The bankers, on the other hand, are increasingly aware that they must protect themselves against becoming responsible for the ever increasing inflation of bank credit.

One Policy Will Work

All this hesitation and reluctance might, of course, lead only to indecision, inaction, and so far as the inflation goes to a policy of let her rip. But it can also lead to an agreed national policy—which is the only kind of policy that can be made to work.

The hesitation and the reluctance can fairly be ascribed not to timidity but to honest doubt. Those who understand the problem best know that there is no panacea, that the inflation is so far advanced that no painless method exists of escaping all the consequences. They know too that all the measures which can be applied—those to control goods in short supply and above all those to deal with the monetary inflation—are hard to handle.

They realize, as a friend of mine, who is a great authority in these matters, has put it, that "no money managers have yet stopped an inflation without bringing on a deflation," and yet that is the very thing which has now to be attempted.

It can only be attempted if there is an agreed policy—one to which both parties as well as the fiscal authorities in the government and the banking community are committed in advance. For no one can assume, and no one should be asked to assume, the dangerous responsibility of checking the inflation unless that responsibility is shared by all who must participate in the work.

Cooperation

Then the chances of success will be greater because there will be cooperation. The burden of responsibility will be lighter because no one can stand apart and pretend that he could have done better.

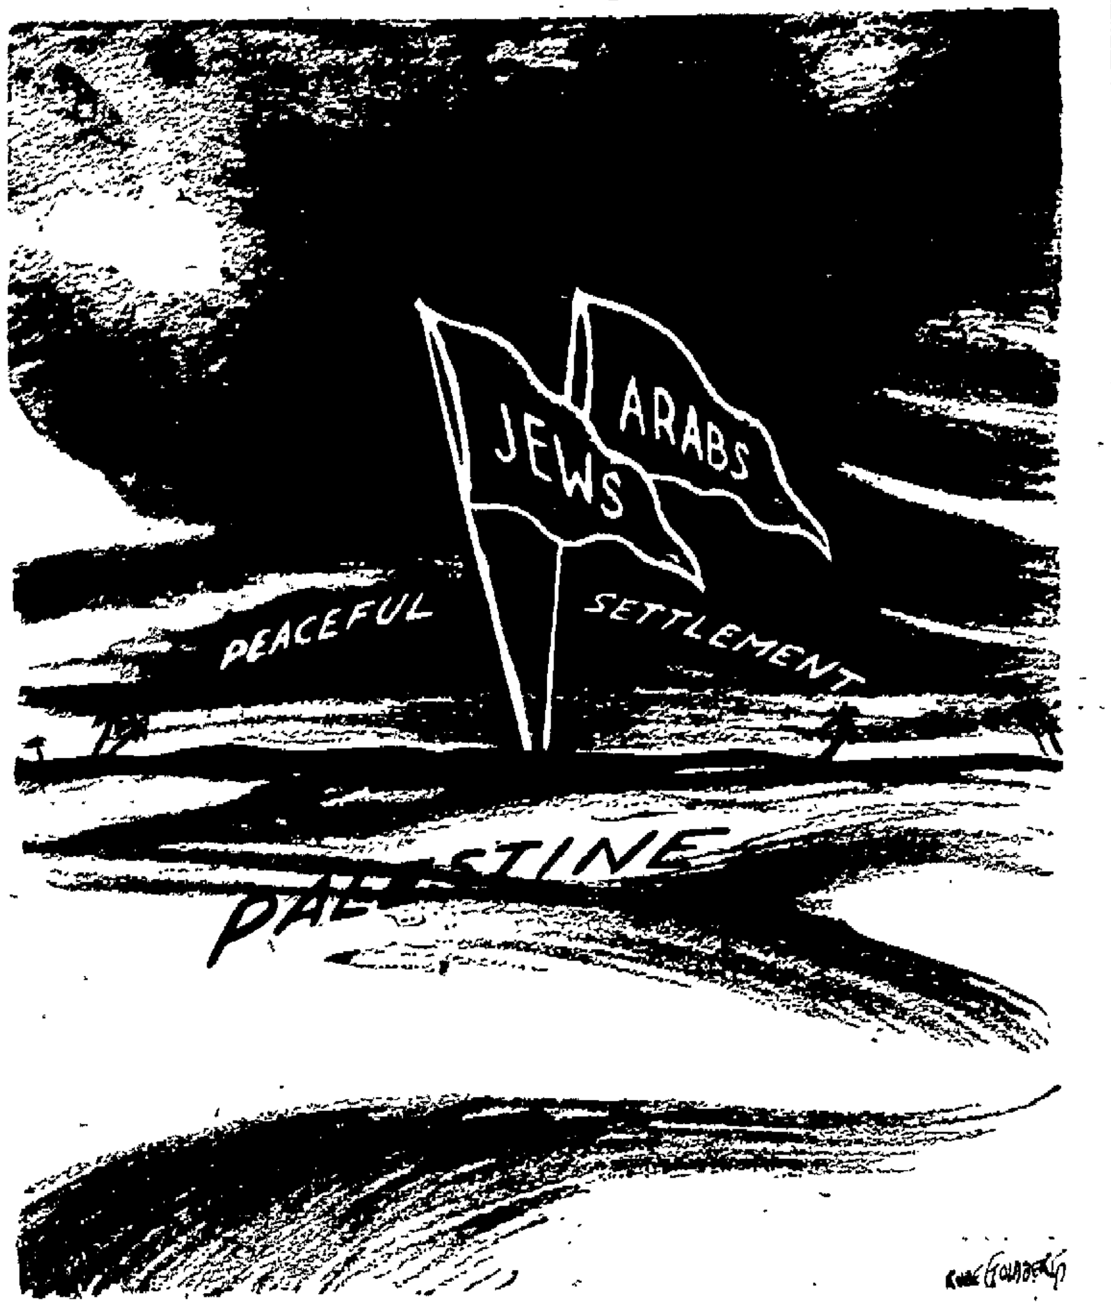
Agreement which requires the patient and persistent reconciliation of differing views takes time. We have a little time—about three months. For during the first quarter of 1948 the treasury through its tax revenues will take in a large surplus over outgo—perhaps as much as seven billions—and if it pursues its policy of using the surplus to retire government bonds held by the banks it will during this period be able to exert pressure against the expansion of bank credit. Temporarily the inflation will be checked.

The next critical period will therefore begin in the spring—when the treasury's surplus has been used up and when, as is probable, farm products will be short. —That will be the time when the monetary controls, and the allocating authority will be needed. If we are prudent we shall regard March 15 as the deadline for the adoption of an agreed national program. Until then, the key men and the political leaders can negotiate and debate. But it is essential that shortly after March 15 they be prepared to act, and that the country should have been braced to withstand the effects of their acting.

The inflation is already so far advanced, and the costs of production have already been raised so high, that the readjustment will be painful. But the American economy today is undoubtedly capable of making the readjustment without a catastrophic or a prolonged depression. There are supports under the American economy which can cushion the effect, and there is at once a capacity to produce and an unsatisfied demand which can carry the country beyond the readjustment.

But if the inflation lifts us to still higher levels of prices, costs and debts, then the readjustment may indeed be catastrophic when it comes. Inevitably it will come.

Desert Mirage?



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Dec. 18, 1937.

A climactic house rebellion shelved the wage-hour bill and sent the measure back to the labor committee despite an appeal from Majority Leader Rayburn, Democrat of Texas, that such a step would mean "the death of wage-hour legislation."

Members of Marion Council No. 129, United Commercial Travelers, entertained their wives with a dinner and social evening at the Elks club. Awards were won by Mrs. P. F. Callahan and Mrs. Sam Almendinger.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Smith and son arrived from Philadelphia to spend the holidays with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Smith of East Center street and Dr. and Mrs. V. C. Kissell of Cherry street.

Death halted arrangements for the wedding in New York of Miss Dorothy Lowney and Andrew T. Durbin of Kenton. The bride-to-be collapsed and died suddenly of heart disease as she inspected her wedding gown a short while before the scheduled time for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nedds of Sheridan road were hosts to members of the Oakland Owl club.

More than 1,100 children attended the Delphian club's annual children's theater party at the Palace theater. Admission was a toy, clothing, food or other needed article to be given to the city's less fortunate children for Christmas.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Dec. 18, 1927.

Adoption of overhead traffic lights became a virtual necessity in Marion when a C., D. and M. interurban car crashed into and demolished a concrete traffic signal standard which had been in service at the intersection of Main and Center streets.

Announcement was made that "King" Benjamin Purnell, leader of the House of David cult, had died Friday at Benton Harbor, Mich. News of his death had been kept secret because his religious colony had been built on the faith that he and his followers were immortal and would never die.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Irvin of North Greenwood street and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Barber of South Market street, Galion.

The Business Women's club entertained 30 children at the club's annual children's Christmas party given in the clubrooms on East Center street.

The Sunday school of Emanuel Lutheran church held its annual election and named Paul Fetter superintendent.

The Difficult Partnership—II

By Joseph Alsop

LONDON

THERE is a strong tendency, in the American administration, in the congress and among our people, to take the British for granted. No doubt there will also be a tendency to take the French and Italians for granted, now that the Communists have been vanquished. This is plain folly.

If the interim aid bill had not been about to pass congress, both French and Italian governments would have been dangerously anemic and uncertain in their response to the Communist challenge. Neither in Rome nor Paris could the present disturbances have ended well. In a different way, despite the weakness of the British Communist party, the same rule applies here in Britain. If most Englishmen were not counting on the regular congressional session to pass the European recovery program, Britain would now be desperately searching for a new foreign policy.

ALSOP

"Of course, every informed man realizes that if we throw ourselves into the arms of the Soviet Union, we must end in the status of Czechoslovakia," one member of the government bleakly remarked to this reporter. "But it's also true that we can't conceivably feed our people, keep our industry going and meet our expensive overseas commitments, without a broad, constructive American effort to put the western world on its feet again. If you weren't very generously and wisely making that effort, we should be forced—by bankruptcy if for no other reason—to try a new policy of making a deal with the Soviets."

Somewhat Exaggerated

This man was certainly exaggerating considerably. There is not much need to fear an actively pro-Soviet British policy. Yet the results will be grave if the European recovery bill is gutted or rejected by the congress. Britain will certainly turn bitterly against the United States, and Britain will immediately divert herself of all the world burdens—such as the burden of the German occupation —which she is now bearing in common with us. The Soviets have their eye on this possibility, as the signing of a temporary Anglo-Soviet trade agreement plainly suggests.

One of the negotiators has tellingly described Britain's attempts, now crowned with success, to open trade with the Soviet world. They have been, he said, "like the trade between two hostile savage tribes. One tribe leaves arrowheads at the trading stone and goes away. The other inspects the arrowheads, leaves the price in grain and goes away. Then the arrowhead makers come the next day and take the grain; and after that the grain growers creep up to get their arrowheads." In short, at present, these dealings are for mutual convenience only. Yet the fact that the Anglo-Soviet agreement has been signed, makes the outcome all the more certain, if congress give the European recovery program the Taft-Wherry-Taber treatment. In that event, we can be sure that the present Anglo-American partnership will be irreparably breached.

Concealed Problem

Furthermore, even if we do what the British regard as our share of the joint job, there is another problem to be considered. Behind the petty irritations, mentioned in a previous report, the Anglo-American relationship conceals a very curious psychological problem.

Very briefly, the great Winston Churchill's greatest single feat of political virtuosity was the way he dealt with our government. Consistently, from the time of the battle of Britain, he made things easy for American leaders in every way that he reasonably could. American officials became accustomed to this treatment. The same treatment was not offered them, however, by the postwar Labor government, which was too obsessed with its own gigantic and terrible problems to try to make things easy for anyone else. Therefore, the American officials reacted rather in the way a pampered convalescent might react, if his nurse, instead of bringing up his breakfast tray, suddenly embarked on a long horrible recital about her own aching back.

Then too, Churchill was never troubled by the inequality between the British and American wartime contributions. He haggled like a marketwoman, as was his duty, to force us to contribute in proportion to our population and resources. It bothered him no more to take money from us than it bothered a great eighteenth century landlord to raise a loan on his property. In this respect also, the Labor government is different. Most of them are men brought up with a deep respect for the value of money, and a fear of financial entanglement, as poor people are. Churchill had not the slightest fear that lend-lease would infringe his independence. Bevin, on the contrary, is obsessed with the idea that we may rudely try to call the whole tune, because we pay the piper.

But some of us can never forgive a transgression in others. We should be big enough to follow God's example.—Prov. 19:11: "It is his glory to pass over a transgression."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

If Virginia Had Written To Pravda

TO THE EDITOR OF PRAVDA:

Dear Mister Editor:

Is there a Santa Claus? My mother and father tell me there is, but some of my schoolmates say he exists only in the imagination. I don't know what to think. My parents tell me that if I see it in Pravda, it is so. Please, tell me is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia

DEAR VIRGINIA:

Your father and mother are warmongers. They have been blinded by the vicious propaganda of selfish capitalistic classes. They are exploiting you. They want you to be a reactionary.

People who would tell you there is a Santa Claus would tell you there is a Star of Bethlehem; they would tell you there were the wise men and the magi. And a little girl who would believe in Santa Claus would believe in Christmas trees, in popcorn balls and in glowing candles. She would even resort to that idiotic device of hanging up stockings, the basic idea of which is enrichment at the expense of others.

I dare say, Virginia, your parents accept Clement Moore. They probably believe in global accord. They seek to indoctrinate you with those dangerous things known as faith, hope and charity. They would have you develop a kindly spirit toward other little girls and boys everywhere, even in western Europe! Phooey! They have probably hidden from you the fact that Dancer and Prancer and Vixen are the profiteering exponents of a discredited economic and social system.

If Santa Claus existed, Virginia, Pravda would tell you. You would find him in Izvestia. This Santa Claus question came up before the Kremlin many years ago and the Politburo voted the following definition:

Claus, Santa, alias St. Nicholas, alias Kris Kringle: a clever creation of the democracies; a warmonger with a white beard; a figment of the monopolistic world's imagination; a symbol of the status quo; a tool of imperialism.

It would have pleased us more, Virginia, if you had asked us "is there a Vishinsky?" Yes, Virginia, there is a Vishinsky to kick the tar out of reindeers, singers of Christmas carols and spreaders of brotherly love, good will and peace on earth everywhere. He exists as truly as Molotov or Stalin exist. He is as real as the veto of Gromyko.

And he will go on for a thousand years, yes, ten thousand years, Virginia, to confound and puzzle children everywhere. Bring in your parents some day, Virginia and have them devalued on a one-for-ten basis.

PRAVDA.

(P.S.—There is a possibility of a change in the party line that would permit limited recognition of Santa Claus. Watch the Daily Worker, my child!)

"OTHER countries suffered. It was quite different in the case of the United States, which is not subjected to occupation and, what is more, enriched itself during the war."—Molotov.

The candles gleam on angels flimsy,
The nights are filled with song and whimsy;

But frankly, it surely seems to me
An awful time to be a tree!

SID PRAGER

Saving the Working Girl

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of federal works agency, recently recalled that in 1860 a Chicago department store laid down these rules for the conduct of its employes:

"The store must be swept; counters, shelves and showcases dusted, lamps trimmed and filled and chimneys cleaned; quill pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast. If there is time to do so, attend to customers who call.

"The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.

"Each employe must pay not less than $5 per year to the church, and attend Sunday School regularly.

"Men employes are given one evening a week for courting, two if they go to prayer meeting.

"After 14 hours in the store, the leisure hours should be spent for the most part in reading."

Gen. Fleming points out that to this day the notion lingers that government employes should be subject to rigid rules. It has been proposed, for example, that all government girls should be locked in their rooms at 10 p. m. and forbidden to use makeup. In a speech before the Society for the Advancement of Management in Washington, D. C., Gen. Fleming noted that among indispensable qualifications for government executives are "a sense of humor and a stiff upper lip."

In Washington Letter Collection

By The United Press

NEWBURGH, N. Y.—Six more original letters signed by Gen. George Washington have been added to the collection of historic documents at his Revolutionary War headquarters here.

The letters were obtained from the Oscar T. Bark collection in Brooklyn.

One of the letters, written nearly a year after the British surrender at Yorktown, reveals Washington's problems in keeping the Continental army intact pending the formal peace declaration.

After the British capitulation, the Continental Congress apparently was unable or unwilling to settle war debts and Washington, appealing for appropriations, wrote that he did not want to revert "again to the ruinous and expensive system of calling upon the States for specific supplies" for his troops.

One of the oldest libraries in the world was discovered during excavations at Nineveh and consisted of small clay tablets containing some 10,000 works and documents, catalogued and arranged. Archeologists believe it was a public library.

Two Ships in Pacific Reported in Distress

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Dec. 18—The 425-ton Filipino ship S.S. Luzon reported tonight it was afire off the north coast of Mindoro in the Verde island passage of the Philippines.

The ship is operated by the De La Rama Steamship Co. The RCA marine radio intercepted its SOS.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Dec. 18 — The freighter Simon Benson was breaking up in heavy mid-Pacific seas today with her cargo of watersoaked rice swelling against the cracking hull. Four vessels were speeding to her aid.

The Benson's crew of about 45 began jettisoning the sack rice and her skipper radioed he had turned the stricken vessel headon into the waves in an effort to diminishing the buffeting. The Liberty ship—a wartime troop transport—was about 1,400 miles northwest of Honolulu.

Steaming to the Benson's aid were the Army hospital ship Comfort, Coast Guard cutter Iroquois, the Navy tug Tekesta and the SS Henry Austin.

ment of the United States is willing to establish such control."

Gromyko underscored Russia's determination to boycott the American-inspired "little UN assembly," the Balkans commission and the Korean independence commission—all established at the recent general assembly meeting over Soviet bloc protests.

"Our position remains as stated," he said when asked if the Russians might change their mind and subsequently participate in the new UN agencies.

He was asked to comment on recent unofficial suggestions that the western powers were trying to force Russia out of the UN.

"I do not know what their intentions are," Gromyko replied. "It would be better to ask them."

INCOME TAX

000 of taxable income for all others plus 10 per cent on the tax applicable to the remainder of their income. There are 1,700,000 taxpayers in this group.

Total Reduction

The total revenue cut from these percentage reductions would amount to $2,600,000,000.

4. An additional personal exemption of $600, meaning a total $1,200 exemption, for persons 65 years of age or over. This would affect an estimated 3,700,000 persons, removed about 1,400,000 of them from the tax rolls and cost the treasury about $200,000,000.

5. Blind persons now have an extra personal exemption of $500. This would be increased to $600, making their total exemption $1,200. The number involved is small and would reduce revenues only slightly.

6. Make minor revisions in the payment of estate and gift taxes. This would reduce revenue by about $200,000,000.

All reductions would be effective next Jan. 1, the taxpayers would be refunded any overpayments between then and the date of enactment.

Knutson said his bill would give 77 per cent of the total tax reduction to persons with taxable incomes under $4,000 and 23 per cent to those with incomes above $4,000.

A married couple with two children now pay $76 on a net income of $2,400. Under the Knutson bill there would be no tax at all. If the income were $3,000, the tax would be trimmed from $190 to $80, at $5,000 the tax would be cut, from $589 to $386; $7,000, a reduction from $1,045 to $708; $10,000, a cut from $1,862 to $1,210.

"If this bill isn't veto proof," Knutson told reporters, "there can be no bill that is."

SCOUTS TO BEGIN BASKET COLLECTIONS

First Donation Will Be Taken Up Today.

The first of the contributions from residents in Marion and Marion county toward the Christmas basket program now underway as a Boy Scout project are to be picked up today beginning at 4.30 p. m.

Scout officials in the Marion district reported today that more than a dozen calls have been received already from persons who wish to donate toward the baskets for the poor and needy.

Several members of Troop 32, Boy Scouts, of the First Church of the Brethren, will work tonight picking up the articles from the families who have already called, and other troops in the city will work at later dates. Transportation is to be provided by the local Army Recruiting Service.

Names of needy people who come to the attention of the Scout officers are referred to the Salvation Army which is assisting in the project by checking and providing names of worthy families.

Scoutmasters of the troops in the city are to meet tonight at the Scout office to map final plans for picking up the baskets and contributions.

The Christmas basket project launches a Boy Scout community service campaign which is to be carried on through various projects throughout the year.

INFLATION

ply lifting the opposing party off the political hook. Hence there were indications that even if the senate should pass the bill today, it would be bottled up in the house.

The senate Democrats showed every intention of not permitting the Taft bill to pass in its present form.

They held before the senate an amendment by Minority Leader Barkley (Ky) which would give President Truman broad powers to lay down the rules under which business could make agreements to parcel out scarce goods.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told the senate yesterday this authority would be sweeping enough to permit a return of wartime rationing of goods and consumer buys.

Agreeing with this, Taft told reporters Barkley had tried to "change the whole theory" of the bill, adding that he, Taft, would never consent to this.

Predicts Rejection

Predicting the senate would reject the Barkley proposal, Taft noted that the Democrats have said they then would move to strike the voluntary agreement section from the bill.

That would leave in the measure provisions extending through Feb. 28, 1949 the President's authority over exports and his controls over transportation facilities.

Taft said he wouldn't bother about passing the bill just to get these proposals through because the present controls don't expire until next Feb. 29 and could be extended in the regular session.

The Ohioan also said he would not agree to delay adjournment, now set for Friday, because members of congress who have travel reservations home for Christmas couldn't get new ones.

It is up to the Democrats, he said, to determine whether they want anything dealing with the inflation problem passed now

"I think the Democrats have decided they don't want anything passed," he said.

BUREAU MAPS FARM PROGRAM

Plans Embodied in 19 Resolutions; Iowan Likely To Be Next President.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—Nineteen resolutions involving next year's farm program, with controversy possible on price relationships particularly, and election of a president succeeding Edward A. O'Neal faced delegates to the American Farm Bureau's twenty-ninth annual convention today.

O'Neal's successor was generally expected to be Allan B. Kline of Des Moines, and Vinton, Iowa. There has been considerable talk among delegates, particularly southern members, of a rival. Candidate to be nominated from the floor in this afternoon's voting.

A convention spokesman expressed belief differences might arise when the price resolutions are considered at this afternoon's final session. Southern spokesmen have been vehement in demanding maintenance of the 90 per cent of parity formula for support prices.

Although resolution committee sessions have been closed, delegates said they expected the support percentage "will be somewhat lower than the 90 per cent figure, possibly somewhere in the range of 60 to 90 per cent."

Tobacco Men To Fight

Support price recommendations were expected to be embodied in the resolution on recommendations for next year's national farm program. Tobacco country spokesmen have said that if the 90 per cent figure is not there "we will make a floor fight for them."

"In any case," they continued, "we've built up enough support so that we think we'll get the figure, if not here, then from congress"

Another possible area of disagreement was assigned to the resolutions dealing with water control and irrigation.

"It's partially the old power-vs-irrigation fight," the convention spokesman said, "but in relation to the Missouri valley it's a little different Everyone is agreed that something has to be done there, and the only question is 'what'."

A touchy topic likewise was the question of acreage allotments and marketing quotas. "Farmers frankly don't like acreage, allotments and all that," the spokesman said, "they don't see any need for them, considering the world food situation; and besides they're individualists anyway."

Other Resolutions

Other of the 19 resolutions approved by the committee and board of directors covered international cooperation and international trade, both expected to be approved; inflation control, taxation, cooperatives, coordination of government farm agency work, restoration of soil fertility, labor and management relations, farm labor and credit, power and electrification, transportation, research, health, and social security.

The question of coordination of government agencies has reference to a move to place the conservation service under the agricultural extension service. The move was supported yesterday by Rep. Howard Cooley (D-NC), and by Dean H. P. Rusk, of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

BELLEFONTAINE GETS ELECTRICAL PLANT

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 18—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation announced today that the section of its small motor manufacturing operations temporarily located at Fairmont, W. Va., will be transferred to Bellefontaine, O., to clear the way for expansion of fluorescent lamp manufacturing facilities in Fairmont.

The new plant at Bellefontaine will be located approximately 3 miles from the small motor division headquarters plant which is at Lima, O.

L. E. Osborne, senior operating vice president of Westinghouse explained that th emove has a two fold objective, being designed to meet the increased demand for fluorescent lamps and to maintain a high rate of production of fractional horsepower motors.

Osborne said: "It is anticipated that most of the people now in the motor operations at Fairmont can be employed in the expanded lamp division activities"

Osborne added that the new plant at Bellefontaine will be built by Silverstein-Leach corporation of that city and will be leased to Westinghouse. Construction planned to start early in 1948 with completion scheduled for about six months thereafter.

Small motor production at Fairmont will continue during the first half of 1948 while the Bellefontaine plant is being built. It is expected that transfer of equipment will be accomplished within two to three months following completion of construction.

By the time full production is achieved at Bellefontaine, probably in the early part of 194 the new plant will employ some 400 people of whom about 40 per cent will be women. Some supervisory personnel will be transferred from Fairmont, but most of the other employes will be hired in Bellefontaine.

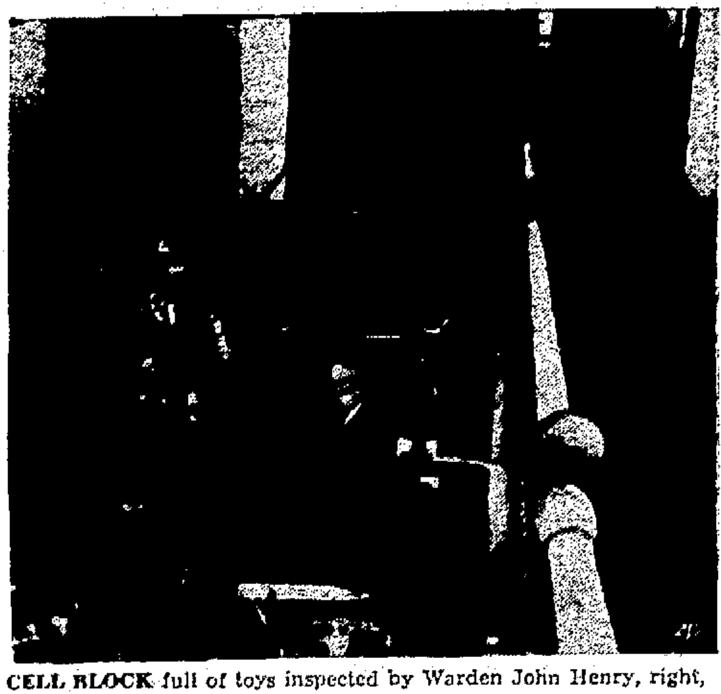
State Prisoners Help Santa



CELL BLOCK full of toys inspected by Warden John Henry, right, and Lt. Millard Berry of Butte, Mont., Active club, one of civic groups distributing the rebuilt toys.

• • •

By The Associated Press

DEER LODGE, Mont.—Warden John E. Henry and his boys at state prison, along with civic groups throughout the state, are seeing to it that no underprivileged child in Montana will be without a few surprises from Santa on Christmas morning.

The civic clubs collect hundreds of used toys, a group of prisoners rebuilds them like new and they are distributed to needy children on Christmas by members of the clubs participating in the plan.

Warden Henry, who began the project last year, says it's the only one of its kind among the nation's penal institutions. He hopes the idea will spread.

The work is especially good for the men, too, says Henry.

Handicapped by lack of materials, the prison workers have rebuilt or repaired more than 1,800 dolls, pandas, teddy bears and animals of all descriptions in an old 160-foot long cell block.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., Dec. 18—Ernest Wilkinson, 45-year-old Seneca county farmer and stock buyer, was under a one to 20-year suspended sentence today following his conviction of manslaughter yesterday by a three-judge court. Wilkinson, who was placed on probation for three years, was accused of causing the death of James Guy Hossler, 47, a farmer, during an argument last July 31.

Confucius, sage of China, was named K'ung and the word Confucius is a Latinized form of a Chinese expression meaning "the philosopher or master K'ung."

GYPSIES AGAIN ON THE MOVE

'Modernized' Itinerants in Europe Now Using Old Autos.

By International News Service

ZURICH, Switzerland — The gypsies are on the move again, in Europe, colorful as ever but mechanized now.

The houses on wheels in which they travel, predecessors of the house trailer in which American businessmen and their wives vacation, are still built on the same old pattern.

But in place of the horse that formerly pulled the menage from place to place, a Model A Ford or other used car of similar vintage is likely to be found.

The young gypsy drivers seem no less proud to be gripping a steering wheel instead of a six foot whip. They eye the road fiercely and drive with a dash in keeping with their heavy gold earrings, but not quite tuned to the abilities of a 20-year-old car.

Wagons Bump, Joggle

The house-wagons bump and joggle along as tipsily as ever, with dark-eyed gypsy children peering out of the tiny windows and hanging precariously to the porch-like platform built on the back. All the while, the smoke from cooking rises from the smoke flue and zig-zags out of the roof.

What caused the change to modern transportation, none of the gypsies will say. They are equally reticent about where they were during the war years and where they acquired the autos.

Travel in Small Bands

As always, they travel in small bands, but now a group on the road looks more like an assemblage of Steinbeck Okies than the traditional glamourous Romany vagrants they are.

Practically all of the other proper gypsy customs are still in effect.

They still lavish bright paint and elaborate wood-carving on the wagons. The people themselves are still dark, colorfully costumed, jolly and saturnine by turns.

They still speak their own ancient language, sing their old songs. There are still violins and concertinas and plenty of time to play them.

Camps in One Place

The whole caravan still camps in one place each night. They still tell fortunes, read tea leaves, dance, and avoid heavy work. The political confusion in Europe, the shortages and the rationing seem not to have affected them or their way of life.

They are perhaps the only people in Europe at present who have no political convictions. Being used to taking things as they found them, they are quite content to continue doing so.

Yet there's no denying that some of the old zest is gone, and the blame can be put on those automobiles. A Model A Ford owned by a gypsy family is still a Model A Ford.

Consider the effect on the long-favorite yarn about the young prince carried off by gypsies if the narrator had to admit that he was spirited away at the maximum speed of that faithful four cylinder, River Rouge built motor.

But perhaps that story is already passe. There aren't many princes left in Europe, either.

There are approximately 180,000 species in the family of beetles, the largest single order in the animal kingdom.

Christmas Candy Canes Give War Veterans Employment

CANDY CANES spun from taffy by Norman Larrieu in vet's confection plant.

* * * *

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — Two veterans, who decided that one overhead was better than two, have pooled their resources and now are making Christmas stick candy canes, pralines, fruit cake and other southern confections.

The two captains of the candy kitchen are Carl Smith Jr., and Bryan Bell Jr., who decided to go into business together to take advantage of special allotments of sugar the government made available to veterans. Now they are using in 18 days what comprised a whole year's allotment under rationing.

They opened their business in November, 1946, and called it "Tasso Plantation." Today they employ 24 persons, mostly ex-GI's who have learned to be experts at baking the fruit cakes and shaping caramel pecan pralines.

The ex-GI's are employed with the help of the government's on-the-job training program.

The partners estimate they turn out a ton of candy a day and at least 1,200 pounds of fruit cake.

Antique Seller Just Second Hand Dealer

By The United Press

BOSTON—It may be humiliating, as Gregory Barlevian protested, but under Massachusetts law an owner of an antique shop is just a second hand dealer.

Barlevian was in municipal court because he refused to pay for a second hand dealer's license but Judge Elias Shamon could do nothing about his plea to pay a higher license fee and be put into his "proper classification."

Judge Shamon persuaded him to become a licensed second hand dealer and then take up the matter of nomenclature with the state legislature.

OHIO AID FOR AGED REACHES NEW HIGH

COLUMBUS, Dec 18—The state will have paid more money for old age pensions by the end of 1947 than ever before in its history, Ira M. Lamoreaux, executive secretary of the Aid for the Aged division in the welfare department, predicted today.

Lamoreaux estimated that the total by the end of the year will have climbed to $57,667,473 as compared with the previous high last year of $46,546,884

The average payment to aid for the aged recipients for 1947, $39 54, also will set a new high for the division, Lamoreaux predicted. The average payment last year was $33 06.

Lamoreaux said the number of applications for aged relief is increasing from a low of 12,095 in 1944 to a point where it is estimated the number of this year will be around 23,000. One of the main reasons for the increase in applications, he explained, is "that the high cost of living is exhausting the savings of old people.

Two Toy "Friendship Trains" Sent Overseas

By The United Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 18—Two toy "Friendship Trains" have left here bound for Swansea, Wales, and a 5-year-old British boy whose war veteran father offered in exchange a collection of captured German war medals.

The two toy trains were mailed to D. M. Jones, a postoffice employe in Swansea, by Harry A. Wentzell, Frisco railroad engineer, and R. D. Greer, owner of an electric train hobby shop.

Jones wrote a local newspaper that he wanted a train for his young son and said it was impossible to buy one in Britain. He offered to swap his medal collection in return.

"I don't want his medals," said Wentzell. "I'll be glad to send along the train to make that little British kid happy . . . If he wants to send my daughter a British doll, that will be all right."

Greer, father of two children, said, "Imagine, a kid without a train—it just isn't right. I'll fix him up a humdinger."

The "humdinger" included four freight cars, extra track, and a locomotive with a whistle.

Uranium Mines No. 1 Industry In Soviet Zone of Germany

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Dec. 18—The biggest booming industrial enterprises in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany today are the uranium mines in southern Saxony. Returned miners say the Russians are working them with a labor force now estimated to number nearly 100,000 German men and women.

It is an expanding enterprise which is worked largely with conscripted labor—and with almost feverish haste, as the Russians extract from pitchblend the uranium they require for atomic research.

Penetration into the uranium fields — in the Erzgebirge (ore mountains) near the Saxony-Czechoslovakia frontier—is forbidden to personnel of the western Allied nations. It is difficult for Germans who are not employed there.

But recently some expanded accounts of Russian operations there have been brought out of the "forbidden area" by German miners who deserted their jobs and fled westward and by travelers who came through the region. These accounts were published by "Die Welt," the official German newspaper of the British military government.

They indicate that in the last two years the Russians have almost totally transformed the economy of a region once devoted to resort and manufacturing enterprises to an all-engrossing job of digging for uranium, even in mine shafts long deserted as played-out or uneconomical.

"Die Welt" said that the Russians were conducting the uranium enterprise through a Soviet company named "Vitriol" which "despite denials, is known to be continuing the use of forced labor—labor sometimes compelled under threat that food ration cards will be withheld from the families of recalcitrant men."

Drafted workers, the newspaper said, are brought from even the most distant points of the Russian zone—the island of Ruegen in the Baltic sea.

Working conditions in the mining area were reported to be improving, but still poor. Wages were called relatively good and the Russians are distributing special bonuses in foods, fats and tobaccos.

Illness Prohibited

"However," the newspaper added, "there is a catch in these premiums. Whoever becomes ill immediately loses all special grants and is reduced to the normal ration. There is no excuse for sickness, exhaustion or age."

"There are many accidents in the mines because safety precautions are lacking," the newspaper reported.

(The "Neue Zeitung," official German newspaper of the American military government, reported recently that 96 German workers were killed in an accident in one of the uranium mine shafts and attributed the accident to lack of safety devices. The Russian authorities never publicly disputed this report.)

"Despite lack of precautions," Die Welt continued, "the work is pressed with feverish haste and mostly with insufficient tools and machinery, especially in the small mines and test tunnels. Sometimes miners have to work knee-deep in half-flooded tunnels."

Area Extended

The uranium belt, according to Die Welt, now is 60 kilometers (about 28 miles) wide across the Erzgebirge. Once centered around Aue, Schneeberg and Schwarzenberg near the Czechoslovakian frontier, it has spread northward and eastward to the regions of Freiberg and Freital.

"The originally-reported goal was for 20,000 workers but now it is reliably estimated that there are five times that many employed in the mines," the newspaper said.

Workers still are coming in from all sections of the Russian zone and in order to house them, several resort towns have been evacuated of most of their non-mining population.

Each mine is reported to be enclosed by high wooden fences. Entrance into the mining area is forbidden without a pass from the Russian district kommandantur.

Several mines long deserted have been reopened for exploitation. In the Zaukerode district, it is reported, search for uranium was started in charcoal pits. In the Freiberg district intensive mining is also being conducted for such metals as wolfram, cobalt and antimony, although operation is very uneconomical.

Well-known spas like Oberschlema, Niederschlema and others now are mining towns.

Damage Is $30,000 In Columbus Office Fire

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18—Fire routed more than 500 office workers from the downtown, five-story Clifton building yesterday, but damage was confined mainly to a first-floor wholesale thread firm.

No casualties were reported and Fire Chief Clarence W. Ogborn estimated the total damage at $30,000.

Ogborn said 90 per cent of the firemen on duty throughout the city fought the flames for more than an hour before bringing them under control.

The majority of the building offices are occupied by the Farm Bureau Auto Insurance Co.

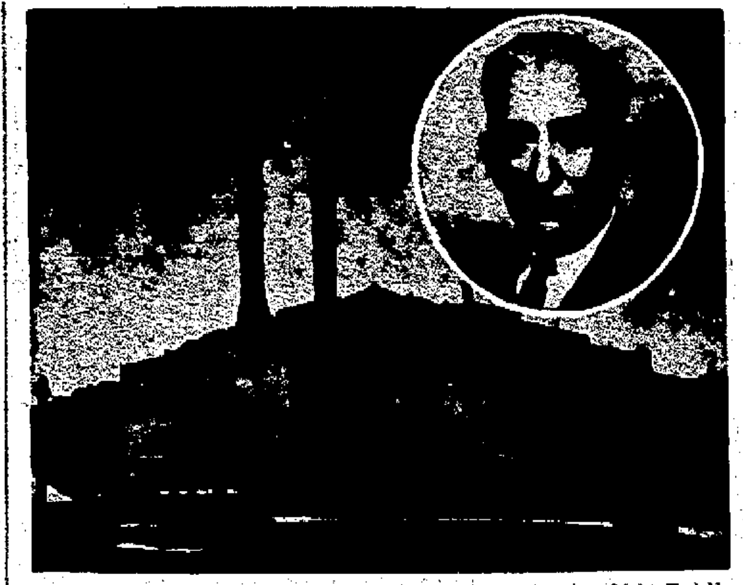
MORE SUB-ZERO WEATHER SCHEDULED IN MIDWEST

By The Associated Press

Another blast of sub-zero weather hit sections of the midwest during the night but temperatures moderated early today. However, another mass of cold air was headed for the same section tonight and tomorrow. Generally fair weather was reported in most other parts of the country.

The below zero belt included most of Minnesota, parts of the Dakotas, northwestern Wisconsin and eastern Upper Michigan.

The mercury dropped to 16 below at International Falls, Minn., at the Canadian border last night, but climbed to -13 this morning. The -16 was the low mark for the frigid belt, as the fresh mass of cold air moved in from eastern Manitoba and southwestern Ontario. In Armstrong, Ontario, about 200 miles northeast of International Falls, the temperature dipped to 33 below.



THE R. E. BURGER GENERATING STATION of the Ohio Public Service Co., where a new 65,000-watt generating turbine was dedicated today is shown above. The plant, located on the Ohio river near Bellaire, has its capacity doubled by the new installation. Inset is pictured R. E. Burger, the company's president, for whom the station is named.

messages traveling over the same high tension lines used for the transmission of electricity.

This system will be used to regulate the flow of current, increasing or decreasing the amount as demand requires at any particular point in the system.

The Burger plant dedication ceremony was attended by company officials, engineers, members of the press and invited guests. The principal speaker was R. E. Burger, president of the company, after whom the generating station was named. It was stated that some 25 years ago, soon after the Ohio Public Service Co. was formed, Mr. Burger initiated plans for eventual erection of a power plant at this particular spot because the availability of large quantities of water and coal would permit efficient and economical generation of electric power.

All Problems Not Solved

In speaking before the group, both President Burger and Vice President in Charge of Operators G. E. Snider emphasized that while the addition of this new unit considerably alleviates the tight situation as regards generating capacity, it does not mean that the critical situaton as prevails in generating capacities is completely solved. They said that OPS, like electric companies throughout the nation, is rushing through its construction program suspended during the war years through shortages of material and manpower.

Mr. Snider stated that during the war years, the manufacture of turbines was confined almost exclusively to military uses such as turbines for battleships and for lend-lease. He stated that under present conditions it takes from three to four years to manufacture and install a unit similar in size to the installation which took place at the R. E. Burger Station. The unit was built by the General Electric Co. at Schnectady, N. Y.

C. S. Bowden, production manager, announced that preliminary construction for installation of a similar turbine in the company's Edgewater generating station on Lake Erie at Lorain is progressing satisfactory. The manufacturer of that unit, he said, is Westinghouse and the turbine is now in the process of manufacture at the Philadelphia plant of Westinghouse. If work proceeds according to schedule, Mr. Bowden said, this unit should be placed in operation early in 1949. The net capability will be 65,000 kilowatts, raising the net capability of the Egewater Station to 98,000 kilowatts.

The Ohio Publiic Service Co. serves a rich and growing industrial area in north-central Ohio. Among the principal communities served are Alliance, Ashland, Elyria, Lorain, Mansfield, Marion, Massillon Port Clinton, Sandusky and Warren. In these towns and areas adjacent to them the company serves a total of 160,000 customers.

PLANE CALLED MOST POWERFUL TESTED

By The Associated Press

MOSES LAKE, Wash., Dec. 18—The XB47 stratojet, described as potentially the world's most powerful plane, made its initial test hop yesterday—on the 44th anniversary of the Wright Brothers' first flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

The 60-ton Boeing bomber, powered by six jet engines, was flown from Seattle to Moses Lake.

Describing the ship as a "very easy airplane to fly" after its 50-minute idling-along 145-mile flight, Pilot Robert Robbins, 31, said:

"We could take right off again now, as far as the plane is concerned."

Here are some of the claims made for the new-type plane, one of five such jet engine bombers now being tested or about ready for tests in this country.

It should carry a 10-ton bomb load at 500 miles an hour, or faster. Because of its speed and ability to come back from missions fast, a crew of only three is needed.

It can travel so fast that refrigeration is provided around the crew compartment to keep it cool from air fraction and resulting heat at high speeds. The capin is pressurized and temperature-controlled.

It is one of two such planes ordered by the air forces from Boeing and the concern has approximately $10,000,000 tied up in the work.

The plane, on its maiden flight, was throttled down and the highest speed was 260 miles an hour, Robbins and Co-Pilot Scott Osler, 29, said at a news conference last night.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL

UNION CO. ELECTS SOIL SUPERVISORS

Mel Kennedy of Taylor township and David Davis of York township were elected as supervisors of the Union county soil conservation district in balloting conducted last Friday. They will start their three-year terms Jan 1, 1948.

Chairman Chris Boerger announced that plans have been made for an annual meeting of district cooperators. The public is invited.

Kermit Morse of the Ohio Division of Conservation met with the board and discussed the cooperative farm pond and wildlife refuge program of the division. The supervisors entered into a memorandum of understanding with the division which makes cooperators of the district eligible to receive aid in refuge development from the conservation division.

The county agricultural agent, Frank Greenelsen, was asked by the board to arrange for the annual conservation tour sponsored by the Union district supervisors to the Ohio State university farm. The tour will be held in late June or early July.

Plans were made for a series of conservation field demonstrations to be held during the summer of 1948, according to Chairman Boerger. C. G. Phillips, local farm planner, and H. E. Hecker, district conservationist of the U. S. soil conservation services, were asked by the supervisors to develop tentative plans for the field demonstrations by the February board meeting.

Ralph Herd was delegated by the supervisors to prepare the district annual report.

Cleveland AFL To Back Chicago Printers' Strike

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18 — The Cleveland Federation of Labor, which represents more than 125,000 union workers here, pledged full support today to the AFL-International Typographical Union in its strike against six Chicago newspapers.

The action was taken in a resolution last night after Joseph R. Rhoden, a representative of the striking local, told the group that publishers were making Chicago a battleground to test provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

The Netherlands lost about two million bicycles during World War II and does not expect to have complete replacements until 1950.

9 PLANTS REPORT PERFECT RECORDS

Safety Council Holds Luncheon; Hears Talk on Silicosis.

Nine Marion companies had perfect safety records in November, it was announced at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Safety council in the Manor House yesterday noon.

They are: American Malleable Castings Co., Arro Expansion Bolt Co., Berlou Manufacturing Co., Colonial Poultry Farm, Marion Water Co., McMillen Feed Mills, Inc., Ohio Public Service Co., Universal Cooler, and Wilson Bohannan Co.

Six other companies had a total of 23 accidents in November.

Robert G. Scott, safety director of Commercial Steel Castings Co., spoke on silicosis, explaining that this industrial disease is in many ways similar to tuberculosis and is caused by breathing silica dust which is found in foundries, paint and ceramic industries.

The dread of silicosis has been a pall of fear on the affected industries for many years, he said, and no effective cure is known.

He said that in recent years an aluminum powder treatment has been developed which in many cases retards the progress of the lung disease, relieving breathing and weakened lung condition. The treatment has been used in three Marion industries with good results, he said.

Safety council chairman, William E. Walters, opened the meeting and introduced W. C. Leonard, safety director of the Ohio Industrial commission, who in turn introduced 20 guests from Crestline, Mansfield, Ashland, Bucyrus, Newark who attended the dinner meeting.

Two Auto Accidents Reported by Police

Two automobile accidents in Marion were reported by the police today. At 6:53 p. m. Tuesday in front of the entrance to City hospital a collision occurred between cars driven by Clifton L. Ingmire of near Marengo and Mrs. Virginia Kear of 555 Summit street. Both autos were going north on Delaware avenue and the Ingmire car was making a left turn to go into the driveway at City hospital. Damage to the fenders of each car was reported by police.

At 3:31 p. m. yesterday a car driven by Richard E. Keefer of 507 Windsor street struck a small boy on Joseph street near the Universal Cooler plant entrance. The boy, Clyde McGown, 7, of 351 Leader street ran from behind parked cars and into the rear of the Keefer auto, which was going east, police said. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver McGown. The driver took the youngster to his home. He suffered only minor scratches and bruises.

PENALTY REDUCED IN MURDER CASE RETRIAL

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec. 18 — Charles Kelley, 34, was sentenced to 18 to 30 years in prison by Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat yesterday after his "quick justice" murder retrial.

Kelley, a former resident of Lorain, O., was convicted by a jury Dec. 8 of second degree murder.

His conviction on the lesser charge came 14 years after the crime for which he was sentenced originally to life imprisonment.

Kelley was accused of participation in the holdup slaying Dec. 8, 1933, of Samuel Diem, a Detroit clothing store owner. He was not the actual slayer.

On Feb. 5 1934, Kelley waived examination and pleaded guilty to the slaying charge without an attorney and with no testimony taken. He was given the life term on a charge of first degree murder.

The time Kelley already has served will be applied against his new sentence.

Michigan's original "quick justice" victim, Rene De Meerleer, was convicted of manslaughter earlier this week at his retrial on a 15-year-old slaying charge. His case was reopened after the United States supreme court held that the speed of his original life sentence for first degree murder—which came the same day he was charged—and lack of legal counsel had impaired his constitutional rights.

Eagles Complete Plans For Children's Party

Plans are now complete for the Eagles annual Christmas party for children, Committee Chairman Howard Wharton announced at the Eagles meeting last night. Arrangements have been made to treat about 1,000 children at the party to be held Dec. 22 in the Eagles hall starting at 8 p. m.

About 100 members attended the meeting last night and two applications for new members were accepted. The social committee provided lunch and a eucher contest followed, under the direction of the social committee chairman, Stanley McCombs. Trustee James Lewis announced that the Eagles club rooms would be open Christmas day from 9 to 12 in the morning.

"Flowers Are Words"— become unique detail in our service

From time immemorial mankind has found "in flowers" the perfect accompaniment to words thought expressly at times of joy and sadness, when the heart is too full to utter.

Mr. Uncapher and Mr. Bastian have always considered the floral offerings just as important in their part as the other details . . . care and arrangement, donors' cards, and lastly important, the transporting of these beautiful gifts to the burial grounds. We have finally met this detail with a beautiful flower coach. It has added another note of beauty and individuality to our funeral cortege . . . "the last journey."

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

(This is the first of two stories on adult education, a field with which the president's commission on higher education finds great fault.)

• • •

ONE night a week 12 men meet here in the home of one of them to talk about a book.

They've read it during the week. They talk two hours, go home, read more, and meet again the next week to talk more.

They're mature men. Most are over 30. Most have families. All are newspapermen except two who work for the government and one who edits a magazine.

All but three are college graduates. Among them they represent a great deal of experience in living and thinking in this country and abroad.

MARLOW.

They're studying political philosophy, which means only: What is a good government or how can a government be made good?

Most of these men deal every day here in Washington with politicians and practical policies.

But politics, as practiced in this country and the rest of the world, is only politics as worked out so far by mankind.

Knowing there's been no perfect government so far, the men in the study group also know this:

Because until now they haven't studied it, they don't know what some of mankind's best minds have thought about government.

So they're taking this course in political philosophy. A professor from St. John's college in Annapolis, Md., comes to each meeting.

Because he knows the field, he can guide the group, suggest ideas, keep the talk from going astray.

HE'S SET UP A READING-discussion program for the group. It may go on a year or longer.

The group started with Thucydides' history of the Greek War more than 400 years before Christ. Why that? And why start so far back?

Because Thucydides was the first factual Greek historian. His history of the war is more than a history of a war among Greeks.

It's the story of what happened to this world's first democracy, Athens.

Athens, which suddenly became powerful, fell apart through the stupidity and corruption and self-seeking of the Athenians and their politicians.

After this start, the study group went on to Plato's Republic, which is Plato's thinking on an ideal government.

(After watching what happened to Athens in his own lifetime, philosopher Plato had small use for a democracy. His ideal republic is a kind of fascist state Hitler would have understood.)

NOW THE GROUP IS studying Aristotle's book on politics. This Greek philosopher was Plato's pupil. But his ideas differed from Plato's.

After Aristotle, the study group will go on to another book, then another, working up to modern times.

When they've finished, the men in the group will have thought more and maybe a little better about government than they ever did before.

What kind of ideas does the group here discuss? It's a wide range. Here are just two: Is man naturally good? Is there such a thing as absolute justice?

The group spent two nights on the question of absolute or perfect justice. Can there be such a thing at all?

So far the idea of justice has varied from time to time, place to place, and nation to nation.

KICKING A JEWISH child, or any child, in his country would be considered a crime and would be punished as an injustice.

In Hitler's Jewish-hating Nazi Germany kicking a Jewish child might have been considered a good thing, worthy of a reward.

Have the men in the group noticed any benefit so far? One thing above all others: They have a deepened sense of humility.

When they have to express their ideas in a group and get them kicked around, they learn they don't have all the answers and that some of their thinking is pretty shallow.

But this group discussion here is only a small part of what is called in this country adult education: Study courses for people who have finished school but want more education.

A lot of groups and a lot of schools are doing the same thing. But—

There's not enough of it being done, according to the President's special commission on higher education. It made a report on that this week.

AUTO DEALER PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN COURT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18—Jack Singleton, former dealer in slightly used cars facing claims of more than $700,000 from his creditors, today entered pleas of innocent to five counts of a county grand jury indictment accusing him of larceny by trick in his auto sales.

Despite pleas for reduction by Singleton's attorneys, Common Pleas Judge Burt W. Griffin retained bail at $100,000. Singleton also is under $10,000 bail on a charge of embezzlement.

True bills against Singleton were returned yesterday by the Cuyahoga grand jury after testimony was presented by 21 witnesses, including some of the dealer's 346 disgruntled customers and his former employes. The customers filed claims for more than $700,000 allegedly given Singleton for cars which never were delivered.

Meanwhile, County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan and his assistant, Saul S. Danaceau, went to Detroit today to investigate the buying end of Singleton's multi-state operations.

One Detroit firm named by Cullitan as a seller of cars to Singleton—the C. & G. Auto Sales—already is under grand jury indictment for alleged fraudulent transactions in connection with the Singleton deals. Cullitan said he expects to return with sales invoices covering most of the Clevelander's purchase.

Christmas Buying Hitting High Mark

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18—Record Christmas buying and high prices were reflected today in the weekly report of sales tax receipts.

State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported receipts of $3,013,730 for the week ended Dec. 6, the first week other than at the end of a six-month fiscal period that collections have topped $3,000,000.

This week, he reported receipts totaled $3,367,000 through Wednesday. He predicted collections for the whole week would beat the record $4,500,000 received in the last week of 1946.

The year's collections through the week of Dec. 6 totaled $103,855,730, or $16,200,000 ahead of last year to the comparable date.

Rat Poison Kills Two Boys in New Home

By The Associated Press

LEBANON, O., Dec. 18—Two young brothers, who ate some cakes they found in the yard of their new home, died last night from rat poison.

Coroner H. M. Williams identified the brothers as Harry, 7, and Clifford McVay, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McVay of nearby Morrow.

The coroner said the poison probably was left by tenants who occupied the home until McVays moved in last week.

The young boy died at home before a doctor could be summoned. Harry died a few hours after being admitted to a Cincinnati hospital.

PLUM BROOK PLANT BIDS ARE ACCEPTED

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18—The war assets administration is accepting bids on the Keystone Ordnance Works at Meadville, Pa., and the Plum Brook Ordnance Works near Sandusky, O., Harold Mundell, WAA regional director, announced today.

Mundell said the two huge explosives-producing facilities cost the government $68,875,000.

The Keystone Works originally covered 14,456 acres, but 10,245 acres have been sold for agricultural use through the Farm Credit Administration. Similarly, the Plum Brook acreage has been reduced from 9,009 to 7,300 acres.

Of 506 buildings declared surplus at Keystone, WAA already has disposed of 175, and 260 of the 528 buildings turned over to the disposal agency at Plum Brook have been sold or transferred to other federal agencies.

TIFFIN MAN HELD IN DEATH, PUT ON PROBATION

By The United Press

TIFFIN, Dec. 18—Ernest Wilkinson, 45, Tiffin stock buyer, convicted of manslaughter yesterday in connection with the death of Seneca county farmer, today was placed on probation by the three judges who tried him.

For three years Wilkinson will not be permitted to take a drink of intoxicants, go to places where intoxicants are sold and may not stay later than 11 p. m. unless accompanied by his wife or a member of his immediate family.

Wilkinson was convicted in the death of James G. Hosler, 47, who died of a brain hemorrhage last July. Wilkinson denied hitting Hosler but admitted pushing him during an altercation.

SEEK TO BREAK NAIL SHORTAGE

Manufacturers Act To Drive Gray Market Out of Business.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—The nation's nail makers set out today to drive the gray market out of their industry by better policing of distribution and increased production.

The decision to take these two voluntary steps was reached yesterday at a lengthy hearing of steel and building representatives before a senate sub-committee of the joint senate-house housing committee.

Chairman Flanders (R-Vt) told reporters later that the gray market in the nail industry looked "like a house of cards" and it "might not take much to push it over."

He said the gray market—a term for "irregular" but not necessarily illegal business transactions—was centered in the east, south and Pacific coast.

Wants Production Standardized

Harold H. Ruttenberg, vice president of the Portsmouth Steel Corporation, suggested to the committee that nail production be concentrated during the next 90 days on "60 standardized types and sizes of nails most commonly used in home construction."

At present, Ruttenberg said, the steel industry is producing "over 125 different kinds of nails.

He said that by bearing down on types used for homes "the critical housing nail shortage should be relieved in 90 days."

The Portsmouth executive also submitted data to Flanders showing that while the steel industry was operating at 90 to 97 per cent of capacity, nail producing capacity ran at only 62 to 70 per cent of capacity so far in 1947.

Voluntary Program

Flanders, outlining the voluntary program to reporters following the closed hearing, said it consisted of these two steps:

1. Better distribution on the part of nail makers to get their products into the hands of legitimate dealers and away from "irregular" channels.

2. Increased output of nails, particularly in types and sizes required for construction of houses. He said this objective included getting the proper machines into three-shift production and providing enough steel to keep them going at capacity.

Flanders estimated that in the east, south and on the Pacific coast at least one half of the nails were finding their way into the hands of gray market operators for resale at two to three times the market price.

MINE OWNERS WANT CHANGE IN RULES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Soft coal producers have urged changes in the definition of supervisory employes under the wage-hour act but are opposed by the United Mine Workers.

The arguments were presented at a public hearings by the wage-hour administration on a CIO proposal that any employe earning less than $500 a month shall be paid overtime after 40 hours a week.

The present regulation provides that any person earning $200 a month and performing supervisory duties is exempt from the overtime provisions of the law.

The National Coal association proposed that any worker exercising supervisory authority and guaranteed $75 a week be exempted from the overtime provisions, James W. Haley, association attorney, said that the present $30 a week exemption should be continued, however, for low wage industries where some executive employes receive less than the production workers in the higher paid industries. The Southern Coal Producers association agreed with Haley.

Central Pennsylvania producers urged that the guaranteed weekly figure be fixed at $60 and the western Pennsylvania operators said it should be $80.

Harrison Combs for the Miners' union, opposed any changes which would enable industry to increase the number of employes exempt from the overtime provisions of the law. He said the exemption of supervisory employes is covered by the contracts between the producers and the union in the coal industry.

JOBS FOR OHIOANS OVER 45 GROWING SCARCER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18—Job opportunities for Ohio workers over 45 years of age are thinning out, the state bureau of unemployment bureau says.

Most men and 29 per cent of the women drawing their first unemployment benefit check last month were 45 or older, BUC Administrator Frank Collopy reported today.

Collopy said reemployment of older workers depends largely upon relaxation of age restrictions.

The number of benefit recipients dropped to a postwar low in November. The weekly average of 25,731 was one-fifth lower than in October. The number of veterans receiving benefits also dropped. Last January two of three persons drawing benefits were veterans; last month only two out of five were ex-GIs.

Thomas A. Reber of Upper Sandusky today was appointed today as a member of a 14-man committee by State Senator Roscoe R. Walcutt (R) of Columbus to study the needs of Ohio's penal system, an Associated Press dispatch reported. Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood who headed the committee for the last two years was again named chairman.

Mr. Reber is president of the First National bank of Upper Sandusky and is also a prominent farmer of Wyandot county. His home is located south of Upper Sandusky on the Marion road.

Other members of the 14-man committee are:

Appeals Judge Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta; Sen. William Tyrrell (R) of Eaton; Judge John M. McCabe of Toledo; Judge Perry B. Jackson of Cleveland; Hal H. Griswold of Cleveland, Frazier Reams of Toledo; Thomas A. Reber of Upper Sandusky.

SAYS HITLER, EVA FLEW TO DENMARK

By The United Press

WARSAW, POLAND, Dec. 18—The trial of Ernst Baumgart, former Luftwaffe officer, was interrupted by a 42-day adjournment today after he told a war crimes court he flew Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun to Denmark just before Berlin fell to besieging Russian forces.

Baumgart, 32, was declared sane after a psychiatric examination two months ago but the adjournment was ordered to carry out further investigations.

Baumgart testified he flew Hitler and mistress-bride out of Berlin on April 28, 1945, landed at Magdeburg to avoid Allied air fighters, and went on to Denmark on April 29.

The plane landed 45 miles north of the Eider river, Baumgart said. He testified Hitler and Eva waited 30 minutes for another plane, which picked them up and set out for an unknown destination.

Hitler paid him off with a check for 20,000 reichsmarks drawn on a Berlin bank, Baumgart said.

The flier is charged with committing war crimes while on the staff of the infamous Oswiecim concentration camp.

Allied investigation into Hitler's last days has established to the satisfaction of intelligence agents that he and Eva Braun killed themselves in the Berlin reichschancellory air raid bunker about 2:30 p. m April 30, 1945. They had been married the night before.

ARMORY

Marion who is in Kenton today appraising the loss.

The fire, one of the city's worst, attracted scores of spectators as it broke out in mid-afternoon as the business district was thronged with Christmas shoppers.

Only the walls of the massive building, a community center for the past half century, remain standing today. It was the largest hall in the city and one of the largest armories in this section of the state.

The cornerstone was laid Aug. 2, 1894, and the structure was dedicated April 5 of the following year. Governor William McKinley attended both ceremonies. A landmark in the community, the armory saw Hardin county men leave for the Spanish-American war, the Mexican border and World Wars One and Two from contingents who had drilled on its spacious floor.

Scene of Basketball Games

For more than 40 years both high school and professional basketball games were played at the armory. At the turn of the century the armory court was the home floor for the famous "Kenton Reds," one of the first claimants for the title of national professional basketball champions.

Kenton High school used the armory court for home games for many years until the erection of the new school. County and district high school tournaments were regularly held there. In addition, independent basketball leagues and grange leagues were among those that kept the armory floor in constant demand during the winter season, not only for basketball but all other indoor sports.

Coal Company To Build 120 Employe Homes

By The Associated Press

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 18—A $1,500,000 project to build up to 120 homes for coal miners on the edge of the Harrison county village of Cadiz was announced today by the Hanna Coal Co.

James Hyslop, executive vice president, said the homes would be built at cost and sold to the company's employes at cost, tentatively estimated to run between $10,000 and $15,000 apiece. A 41-acre tract on U. S. 250 has been bought.

He explained that the company's mining operations had been hampered because miners had been unable to find housing for their families. The company is underwriting the project with contractors, he said, but sale to the employes will be outright, with no strings or restrictions on resale attached.

Cadiz officials have agreed to annex the 41-acre tract to the village and provide water, sewage facilities, and streets, he said.

A survey is being conducted among the company's [illegible] employes to determine the types and sizes of homes favored. [illegible] will have an individual [illegible] he said.

Military leaders of the Arab League are reported, to have met in Cairo to draw up "battle plans" for the holy war, which would start when the British depart.

Lolly, British Heroine

Dave Is Big Man in His London Area—Has Only Black Overcoat

(This is the fourth in a series of five articles on the day-to-day struggle of a typical working class family in London by Inez Robb, International News writer who recently returned from England.)

• • •

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Dave is the name of the manager of the Ancient Briton, an old and popular pub in London's East Side not far from where Alfred and Lolly Segrott live with their children in a small, cold flat.

Dave has always been a kind man. But in the last four years he has become a famous man in his locale. For Dave owns the only black overcoat in the whole community.

That is very important, for a man does like to look decently clad if he must go to the funeral of a relative or a neighbor.

"I guess Dave has loaned his overcoat full a hundred times since he bought it for his own mother's funeral four year ago," Alfred Segrott estimates. "Everyone goes to Dave when he has to have black clothes and Dave always obliges."

But it is not poverty that his reduced Dave's friends to borrowing his decent black coat. It is clothes rationing. It is a ration system which has reduced Englishmen to the bare essentials in clothing, and sometimes not even that.

Now has it affected only the residents of poor bombed-out Bermondsey.

Wedding Attire Rented

An executive of Selfridge's, the largest clothing store in London, told me that at least half the men in the abbey at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh wore formal morning dress from Moss brothers, London's largest rental costumers.

It is growing children like Christine, 2, and Alfie Jr., 10, who are at once the joy and despair of a family like the Segrotts. It seems to their mother, Lolly, that they grow out of clothing or wear out garments while her back is turned.

Coupons from other members of the family are always being borrowed to buy clothes to keep pace with Alfie's growth or his strenuous life on London's sandlots.

"You can't ask a boy of Alfie's age just to sit still, although I'm sometimes tempted!" sighed Lolly.

Lolly cannot remember buying a new dress for herself since the war. For the wedding of her daughter, Jessie, in Bermondsey church recently, she had an old blue dress, faded by time, dyed black.

Husband Luckier

But her husband managed 26 coupons for a new suit, the first he has had since 1938. He had also saved up 9 coupons for a new pair of shoes, his first since the war, and for two pair of sox, at three coupons each.

There went a year's coupons for Alfred Segrott's suit, shoes and two pairs of sox! If he needs a shirt in the next five or six months, it's just too bad.

Alfred's overcoat, the only one he has had in 10 years, was purchased second hand during the war.

It will have to last for a long time to come, for he now estimates that a decent winter overcoat would not only cost many coupons but $80!

It takes ingenuity as well as coupons and money to run any kind of a household in England, whether it is a slum-clearance flat like the Segrotts or a mansion.

I have a hunch that Lolly has more ingenuity than the mistress of the mansion.

Problem of Sheets

Since purchase of sheets can only be made at the sacrifice of clothing coupons, it is often a toss-up here whether the bed or its owner is to be outfitted!

But Lolly has solved the problem neatly. During the war, she was able to buy, coupons-free, the very heavy flour and sugar sacks in which such commodities were sent to England.

They are unlike any flour or sugar sacks I have ever seen at home, much larger and of very heavy, hard-woven material.

It takes four such sacks, at 40 cents each, to make a sheet that could substitute for a sail and ought to last a life time. Some she turned into dish towels.

Lolly has had no problem with pillow cases which, for some unfathomable reason, are not rationed.

Muslin from Butchers

Handkerchiefs cost clothing coupons, but not for Lolly's family. From her butcher, she buys the fine muslin in which is wrapped the imported beef that comes to England.

For seven and eight cents, Lolly can buy these pieces of muslin. It serves many purposes and is a boon to Lolly's family.

Underwear is just a sometime thing for Englishmen of all classes. The Montomorency's no less than the Segrotts pray daily, as they leave home, that they will not be hit by a bus.

All live in terror of being undressed in a hospital and having their patched underwear exposed to public view.

Mintz To "Leave No Stone Uncrushed" In a Try To Kill Lesnevich vs. Fox Bout

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18—Jake Mintz, one of Ezzard Charles' managers, promised today to "leave no stone uncrushed in a try to kill off" the recently announced light heavyweight title bout between Champion Gus Lesnevich and Billy Fox.

In again matching Lesnevich with Fox, "who was knocked out so simple the other time," Sol Strauss, acting head of Madison Square Garden, "is insulting the intelligence of the world," Mintz fumed.

He said the "whole world" knows that his Cincinnati fighter "is the No. 1 light heavyweight crown contender."

The fight manager, who stopped off here yesterday, said he had conferred with matchmaker Larry Atkins in planning an attack against the Barden powers and Lesnevich.

Atkins earlier charged Lesnevich was afraid to fight Charles and said he intended asking the National Boxing association to stop the bout planned for Madison Square Garden next March 5.

Mintz added "the Garden has been trying to ease me up" by offering Charles a mid-January bout with Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight.

First Basemen Top 11 Club Owners' Shopping List

Only Five Major League Teams Are Set After Midwinter Trading Spree.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Top item on the Christmas shopping list of 11 major league club owners is a first baseman. Only five of the teams are "set" at this position after the midwinter trading spree.

The Chicago Cubs are in the happy position of having both Phil Cavarretta and Eddie Waitkus for the jobs, thus prompting a steady stream of trade offers into their Wrigley field office.

Johnny Mize, off his 51-homer season, is a New York Giants' fixture and Connie Mack is well fixed with Ferris Fain, who was a first year sensation with the Philadelphia A's, coming from the Pacific Coast league.

Mickey Vernon, the 1946 American league batting champ, has the field all to himself at Washington unless owner Clark Griffith decided to sell him to the New York Yankees. Cincinnati is pleased with the performance of Babe Young, acquired from the Giants in mid-summer, although Manager Johnny Neun will have to take another look at Ted Kluszewski after his great hitting year at Memphis in the Southern Association.

Detroit Wide Open

The field is wide open in Detroit with a four man fight in prospect to determine the successor to Roy Cullenbine, sold to the Phillies. Paul Campbell, purchased from Louisville on a conditional basis, may be the best of the lot although the Tigers are high on George Vico, a farmhand who spent the summer in Portland.

Cleveland has Eddie Robinson, who played most of last season, and also has added Elbie Fletcher from Pittsburgh. They are in the unsettled category along with the St. Louis Cardinals who will, of course, go with Stan Musial, if none of the others comes through. Manager Eddie Dyer wants to return Musial to the outfield if he can dig a first baseman from rookies Mike Natisin of Columbus and Glenn Nelson of Lynchburg, Va. Nippy Jones, a second baseman from Rochester, might be able to make the switch. Dick Sisler will get a thorough trial.

Witte Flopped

The St. Louis Browns have Jerry Witte who flopped last spring. However they will bring up Chuck Stevens from Toledo, their regular in 1946.

Joe McCarthy will have holdover Jake Jones of Boston although the Red Sox at one time talked about a trade with Washington for Vernon. Stan Spence who played centerfield at Washington, probably will see at least part time duty at first in Boston.

Chicago's White Sox still have Rudy York but they bought Tony Lupien from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league.

George McQuinn remains the New York Yankees' first baseman but Bucky Harris will have Steve Souchock from Kansas City, Joe Collins from Newark and Jack Phillips.

Ben Chapman has surrounded himself with a number of men who have played first on occasion but the Phillies' regular will not be determined until spring training.

Brooklyn's talent hunt is centered around a replacement for Jackie Robinson with the idea of moving the Negro star to second.

The Boston Braves got along by alternating rookie Earl Torgeson and the veteran Frank McCormick last season.

Shotgun Hunters Bag 100 Deer in 1st Day

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Dec. 18—Shotguns are much more effective about 50 times at least—in killing deer, if results of the northeastern Ohio hunting season are any criteria.

The first two days of the season were restricted to archers, who reported only two kills. Yesterday, opening day for the boys with shotguns, more than 100 deer were reported bagged.

The five-day season began Monday.

ABOLISH TURKEY DAY TILT

By The Associated Press

Double Main Event Tonight

Marion wrestling fans are in for plenty of action tonight at the armory including a championship match between Herb Parks and Steve Nenoff. The tough Bulgarian will be the hardest competition Parks has met on the Marion mat and there may be a new champion when the smoke rolls by. Steve has the best record of any grappler to come to Marion and can wrestle either clean or rough.

The other ninety minute match should be a "honey" for it pits Billy Rayburn against Frankie Taliber. Here are a couple of speed merchants and Rayburn is out to get a match with Parks or Nenoff or anyone who has the belt he used to possess. Of course Taliber, who used to have the Mid-West belt may have something to say about this. All in all it's a great pre-holiday card and one that promises plenty of action. The ten minute prelim between Bill Monroe and James Stewart opens the show at 8:30. Same prices. Call 2745 after six for your reservations.—Adv.

MARTY MARION BEST SHORTSTOP IN N.L.

Made Most Putouts, Least Errors; In 104 Doubleplays.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Supporters of Marty Marion as the best shortstop in the National league have an imposing array of figures to back up their claims as the tall shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals dominated that position in 1947 according to the final averages released by the circuit today.

The "octopus" or "Mr. Shortstop," as Marion is known in many quarters, woundup with a .981 mark in the past season.

In addition, Marion handled the most chances, 796, made the most putouts, 329, the least errors among those who appeared in 100 or more games, 15, and was the only shortstop to particate in 100 or more games, 15, and was the only shortstop to particiate in 100 or more doubleplays. He took part in 104 twin-killings.

His chief rivals were Buddy Kerr of New York, Eddie Miller of Cincinnati, Bill Cox, recently traded to Brooklyn by Pittsburgh, and Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn. Kerr made the most assists, 460.

The remainder of the National league's best fielding infield is composed of Johnny Mize, New York, first base, Ed Stanky, Brooklyn, second and Bob Elliott, Boston third base.

Mize, who is better known for his slugging ability, made only six errors in accepting 1,503 chances for a dandy .996 mark. Stanky set a National league record for keystoners with his .9853 percentage. The previous best was Lonnie Frey's .9851 for the 1943 Cincinnati Reds. Elliott compiled a .956 mark at the hot corner.

Bill Nicholson of Chicago, Tommy Holmes of Boston and Augie Galan of Cincinnati were the circuit's top three defensive outfielders according to the averages.

ROSE BOWL RUNAWAYS

By The Associated Press

PASADENA—The winning team in the 33 annual Rose Bowl games has averaged 21 points in victory; the loser has been able to gather an average of only five digits. Averages in other Bowl games: Sugar, 16-11; Cotton, 19-10; Orange, 21-10.

Dick Erdlitz batted 1.000 in extra point attempts last year, making 23 for 23 for the Miami Seahawks.

Cincinnati Colleges Give Kentucky Little Argument As Wildcats Roll On

By The Associated Press

Fans booming Kentucky as the best collegiate basketball team in the nation could find little argument today in Ohio, particularly around Cincinnati.

Coach Adolph Rupp's star-studded Wildcats bowled over Xavier last night at Lexington, Ky., 79-37, for their seventh straight win. Cincinnati's other major college, the University of Cincinnati, dropped a 67-31 verdict to Kentucky last Saturday.

There were a half dozen other games involving Ohio schools last night, but all were intra-state affairs:

Wilberforce State continued undefeated, trouncing Tiffin at Tiffin, 70-34. Center Ray Shields showed the way with 18 points.

Defiance handed winless Bluffton a fifth loss, 51-48, center Merle McDonald hitting for 23.

Akron university led all the way in making John Carroll its third victim in four starts, 52-47. It was the fourth loss in five games for the invading Blue Streaks.

Kent State's fast-breaking crew rallied in the final 10 minutes with a 23-point splurge to trip Youngstown at Youngstown, 58-53.

Howard Fleckinger and Al Pflug scored 31 points between them as Marietta turned back Cedarville, 62-50, for its third triumph in four tries. Fleckinger tossed in 16 points; Pflug 15. Cedarville now has lost four out of five.

Two brothers—Roy and Claude Taylor—led Ohio university's Chillicothe branch to a 66-46 win over Bliss college of Columbus, Roy scoring 28 points and Claude 17.

Last night's defeat was doubly disheartening for Xavier. The Musketeers, who beat Purdue early this season, began the current week undefeated but lost to Ohio university Tuesday night.

They trailed Kentucky 51 to 15 at half time.

BIRD-McGINNIS POST ORGANIZES CAGE TEAM

The American Legion Bird-McGinnis Post last night made initial plans to floor a basketball team in the newly organized Marion Veterans Basketball league, which will begin play the first week in January.

Among the players interested in joining the Legion quintet are Paul Monnett, a former county league player, and Charles Cocherl, a stalwart of the Cocherl Tinners who played in the Marion area before the war. Both are guards.

Any other players interested in joining the team are invited to come to the Legion's first practice session next Monday night at the Armory.

Lamar (Racehorse) Davis returned five kickoffs for Miami Seahawks last year for an average 47 yards per return.

Ohio Cagers to Get Down to Brass Tacks in Last of Pre-Holiday Games

Future Harding Opponents—Lima South, Ashland, Columbus West—Going Strong

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Ohio Sports Editor

Ohio's myriad scholastic basketball teams will mark the last weekend of pre-holiday play by getting down to brass tacks in many cases.

This weekend's heavy salvo of games includes stern tests for such early flashes as Columbus Central, Canton Township, Alliance, East Liverpool, Massillon, Canton Central and Findlay.

A notable exception is Middletown. The class A champ of 1944, '45 and '47 should have no trouble recording its third straight victory of the current season Friday night against Miamisburg.

Undefeated Alliance and last year's state championship runner-up, East Liverpool, meet in the Potters' kiln. Although a far cry from a year ago, the Potters have lost only one of four games to date.

Findlay Seeks Fifth

Findlay, another state tourney team of a year ago, seeks its fifth in a row against Xenia. The revenge motive enters here, for Xenia was one of two teams that managed to defeat Findlay last year.

Columbus Central (6-0) meets Columbus West (5-2). Massillon (2-0) tackles Canton Lehman Friday and Canton Lincoln Saturday. Canton Central Catholic (3-0) runs up against Akron Central and Toledo Central Catholic on successive evenings.

In other top drawer attractions, Garfield, Akron's city leader with four straight wins, seeks to maintain a 56-point-per-game average against New Philadelphia; Canton McKinley (1-0) plays Cleveland Heights; Dayton's city pacesetter, Wilbur Wright, ventures against Lima South.

Woods Full

The woods are full of undefeated teams at this stage. Some of the most impressive are Ashland, with a brilliant team that may outdo last year's fine quintet; Hamilton Catholic, and both Mansfield clubs, the Tygers and Madison.

Ashland, paced by All-Ohio Dick Messner, has scored 106 points in its last two games against 43 for Galion and Wooster combined. Vern Huffman of Mansfield has developed a 5-0 record with a team that boasts only one 1946-47 regular.

An early season disappointment is Barberton. The state football champs were strong on the hardwood last year and relied on grid aces Paul Gondor and Dick Goudy to make them a factor again this season. To date, however, the Magics have dropped three out of four.

Pittsburgh Pirates Buy New Orleans Pelicans

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18—New Orleans was promised a new stadium within two years today as the Pittsburgh Pirates took over operation of the city's Class AA Southern Association team.

The Pirates bought the club outright, including the present Pelican stadium, the franchise and 37 players. At the same time, the Pirates are assuming New Orleans' working agreement with New Iberia, La., of the Evangeline league and Anderson, S. C., in the Tri-State league.

The Bucs also entered Greenville, Ala., in the Class D Alabama State league and Santa Rose, Calif., in the Far West league, giving Pittsburgh a total of 20 farm teams. Support was dropped from Hornell of the Pony league.

WANTS TERMINATION OF ALL STAR-PRO TILT

Redskin Owner Says Sponsoring Tribune Violated Contract.

By The United Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—George P. Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, has demanded discontinuance of the annual football game sponsored by the Chicago Tribune between the College All-Stars and the champions of the National professional league.

Marshall said that "the league already has voted Commissioner Bert Bell authority to call it off if he sees fit."

Marshall charged that the Tribune violated its contract with the National Football league in its conduct of the 1947 game.

He also charged that Arch Ward, Tribune sports editor, has tried to "disrupt" the National Football league by helping organize the rival All-America conference.

"The game's sponsor, the Chicago Tribune," Marshall said, "violated the contract and one of their representatives (referring to Sports Editor Arch Ward) is engaged in an attempt to destroy or disrupt the other party to the contract — the National Football league."

Marshall said that Ward's "attacks on National Football league members and myself have not gone unnoticed."

"We have empowered Mr. Bell to take necessary action to protect our interest," he said. "By that I mean the Tribune should make up its mind whether it wants Mr. Ward as promoter of the game, or whether it wants the National Football league as party to contract."

The Redskin owner contended that the Tribune violated its contract for the All Star game by permitting Claude "Buddy" Young, Illinois Negro speedster, and George Ratterman, Notre Dame quarterback, to play in the 1947 game against the Chicago Bears.

Both men had college eligibility remaining and their classes had not graduated. They later signed to play with teams in the All-America conference, Young with the New York Yankees and Ratterman with the Buffalo Bills.

Contract Cancellation Is "Marshall Story".

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—George P. Marshall's suggestion that the National Football league cancel its contract for the annual game between the league's champions and the College All-Stars is the "Marshall story," says league Commissioner Bert Bell.

In Chicago yesterday Bell said the league signed a 10-year contract with the Chicago Tribune in 1942 for presentation of the All-Star game. His only comment on the proposal by Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, to cancel the contract, was:

"That's a Marshall story he gave out. I know nothing more than that."

Arch Ward, Sports Editor of the Tribune, which sponsors the annual grid classic, said that "The All-Star game will be presented next August in Soldier Field on schedule."

Wolverines Leave For Pasadena and Bowl

By The United Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 18—The University of Michigan football squad left today for Pasadena where it will meet the University of Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Head Coach Fritz Crisler sent his charges through their final drill in the Michigan field house yesterday and appeared satisfied that the squad was in top fighting shape for the Jan. 1 encounter.

The Wolverines will arrive at Pasadena Saturday morning for 10 more days of intensive training.

Santa Clara and LSU were Sugar Bowl rivals in consecutive years—1937 and 1938.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—There may be a good reason why Harry Rabenhorst, the ordinarily-placed Louisiana State baseball and basketball coach, comes to a slow boil when he talks about organized baseball . . . The wrecking of his promising L.S.U. basketball squad was begun when two of the boys signed pro baseball contracts—too late for him to get in replacements before the July 1 "freshman" deadline . . . Before that he lost Alvin Dark, probably the best all-around athlete ever to play at L.S.U., but Harry doesn't mind that because he figures any boy would be foolish to turn down the kind of bonus Dark collected . . . But he also is annoyed over the demise of a fast summer league in Alabama and Mississippi in which a lot of good eastern and southern collegians played . . . "The kids got good experience there; the fans were enthusiastic and the players were treated as guests in the best homes in town," Rabenhorst says. "And the scouts could come in and look over a lot of promising material . . . Then they started up a pro league that put the college circuit out of business; it isn't doing so well and it's costing them a lot of money."

JACK FRIED, Philadelphia Bulletin fight expert, reports that it cost Jersey Joe Walcott $12 and some change to get into the Garden for last Fridays' Ike Williams-Tony Pellone tussle . . . If that's correct, then was when Jersey Joe really was robbed.

Central Juniors Stop Bucyrus Cagers, 33-20

Central Junior High school trounced Bucyrus Junior High yesterday afternoon at the Armory, 33-20, with Daum, Marion center, setting the scoring pace with 10 points.

The Bucyrus team brought only seven boys as several on the squad were ill.

Behind at the end of the first period, 5-3, Central took a half-time lead of 10 to 7. In the third session however, the Marion youngsters poured 16 points through the hoop to only five for the losers. With several reserves in the Central lineup in the final stanza, Bucyrus outscored the winners 8 to 7.

TELEVISION ALARMS EASTERN COLLEGES

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 — The Eastern College Athletic conference today looked with alarm at a time in the near future when the eastern stadia will be empty simply because there's a better game at Columbus, O.

Television is the problem. The E.C.A.C., in calling for a unified and nation-wide policy of television college football games, sees in television the possibility of competition which could become unbeatable.

Why sit in the 30-degree-blow at Baker Field when there's Notre Dame-Southern Cal in the parlor.

The E.C.A.C appointed a committee to look into the television problem, and to confer with other college conferences on the subject. Then, to make sure that all schools consider the dangers, it asked that the N.C.A.A. take up the matter at its meetings next month.

Although television is not presently a problem anywhere except in the East and West coast, the E.C.A.C. pointed out the practice of television stations taking movies of games in other areas and then television them later. The colleges get no money for this, although they do reap rich harvests from rights for radio broadcasts of their games.

Only a unified stand across the nation, the E.C.A.C. tells non-member colleges, can the competition from television be controlled.

DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 17—The death of the unnamed, 16-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Hackenberg was an accident, Coroner Mitchell A. Spyker ruled yesterday following a two-hour conference with Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett and Sheriff Ralph J. Paul. Hackenberg, a former Cleveland attorney, was executive secretary to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert until appointed to the pardon and paroles commission in August. The baby died Dec. 7. The parents underwent lie detector tests Tuesday.

MOTORMAN WHO "LIKED TO SAVE" LEAVES $155,264

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 18—Harold F. Weisman, the streetcar motorman who left an estate of $155,264, "wasn't exactly a recluse," his attorney said today," but he liked to save his money and mostly stayed to himself."

Weisman, a widower, operated a streetcar for nearly 50 years, and was 86 when he died Nov. 22. An appraisal of his estate was filed yesterday in probate court.

Fred Bader Jr., his attorney, said Weisman built a fortune from savings eked out of meager earnings as a driver of horse-drawn cars, and later with improved wages as an electric power car operator.

"He bought a house here and stock there, and pyramided it all into his fortune," Bader said.

Weisman left no will. His only known relative, Bader said, is a brother, Justus Weisman, described as a patient in a Parkersburg, W. Va., hospital.

Santa To Come Early For Springfield Boy

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 18—Santa Claus will visit four-year-old Stewart Knisley this weekend because doctors say the boy may not live until Christmas.

Last summer, young Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knisley of nearby South Vienna, could run, jump and play like any other youngster.

Then he found his dad's shotgun and somehow managed to discharge it. He has had two operations, 11 blood transfusions and been given four tanks of oxygen. Part of his intestines were removed.

Now he is paralyzed from the hips down.

Stewart will see Santa Claus Saturday because a local theater has promised that Saint Nick will reach his hospital room with a sackful of toys.

MIRRORS USED TO CATCH MALE GROUSE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Wildlife experts have developed a new means of catching grouse alive. It's done with mirrors.

Dr. Logan J. Bennett, chief of cooperative research for the fish and wildlife service, says it only works on passionate males, but the technique is so simple it's surprising it wasn't tried long ago.

All you have to do is:

1. Build a small cage of mesh wire, with a trip-door leading to a cheap mirror. The whole thing—wire, wood and glass—needn't cost more than $1.
2. Set a trap by a log, stump, rock or some other haunt used by ruffed grouse during the mating season.
3. Go away and let nature take its course.

Eventually the male grouse will come hunting a hen, says Bennett, sight his image in the glass, and leap jealously across the trigger-door to the attack. Bam goes the door and you've got your grouse.

During experiments with it, Bennett said, "we also caught several songbirds, some cottontail rabbits, a few squirrels and a weasel."

Browns Place Six on Conference All-Star Team; Yanks' Sanders Unanimous Choice

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Orban (Spec) Sanders, the New York Yankees' record-shattering halfback, was the only unanimous first team choice for the All-America Football conference's second annual All-Star team announced here today.

All first team players came from the top five conference teams with the champion Cleveland Browns placing six men New York two, and Buffalo, Los Angeles and San Francisco one each.

Sanders polled first-place votes from all of the 52 sports writers and radio men in the eight conference cities who participated in the poll. Cleveland's battery of Otto Graham and Mac Speedie was not far behind, Graham getting 45 and Speedie 48 first place votes.

Chet Mutryn, Buffalo halfback, nosed out John Stryzkalski of San Francisco to become Sanders' running mate on the first team. Marion Motley, Cleveland fullback, completed the backfield.

Dante Lavelli, the other Cleveland offensive flanker, edged out Alyn Beals of the 49ers to give the Browns both end posts. Lou Tymkus of the Browns and Nat Johnson of the Yankees won the first team tackle berths, while Bruno Banducci of the 49ers and Bill Willis of the Browns were the guard selections, with Bob Nelson of Los Angeles walking away with the center honors.

STUDIES MINIMUM WAGES

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18—William J. Rogers, state industrial relations director, today had under advisement new minimum wage scales proposed for women and minors employed in hotels and restaurants. Yesterday, he promised "action within the next 10 days" following a public hearing. Hotel operators appealed to Rogers to reject the increases during the hearing.

Jack Davis, Former LaRue 6-Man Star, May Play for UCLA

Jack Davis, former six-man footballer at LaRue, is expected to enter the University of California at Los Angeles and become a candidate for the Uclans football team, his father, Harold F. Davis of LaRue, received word recently.

The former LaRue star, who played this year with Terminal Island Naval Base, so impressed the coach of the Uclans that he was invited to enter U.C.L.A. Davis entered the Navy soon after graduation from LaRue High school in 1946. He will be discharged next April.

A pharmacists mate in the Navy medical corps, he is known to Long Beach, Calif., football fans as "Doc" to distinguish him from another Davis, a star on the same team. With the former LaRue fullback playing the same position for the Naval crew and Don Davis, a former U.C.L.A. player performing at half, the two were billed as the "Davis Duo" by Long Beach newspapers.

While in high school Jack weighed 158 pounds but now tips the scales at 178. His only football experience while at LaRue was playing six-man football. He finished his prep career without playing in a losing game in four years. He was not only a skillful runner but a good passer and defensive man as well. Davis may have a chance to answer the question, long asked by football fans, "Can a boy trained in six-man football play college football?"

In addition to his football prowess Davis was a member of the LaRue High basketball team for three years, being chosen on the All County squad in his last season.

The Naval team defeated the Del Mar Marines 20 to 0 in the final game of the year for the service championship of the Pacific coast area. In this game Jack made two of the three touchdowns for his team. One of these was a run of 30 yards. He made the other one a one yard plunge, according to the Long Beach, Calif., Press-Telegram.

SPORTS LAUGHS

By The Associated Press

KENTUCKY was such a terror at the Southeastern conference basketball tournament last winter that practically everyone at the tourney—unless a Kentuckian—rooted against the Blue Grass five.

Bob Neyland—the Tennessee football wizard—was sitting in the stands one night, cheering as hard as he could for Kentucky's opposition—Tennessee.

Neyland's fervent rooting so amused a lady sitting in back of him that she tapped him on the shoulder and said: "You certainly are rooting for Tennessee, aren't you?"

Neyland bowed and said, "Madam, I'm for everyone but Kentucky."

A frosty silence came over that section of the stand. The lady was Mrs. Adolph Rupp—wife of the Kentucky coach.

Passes connected for 133 touchdowns in the All America Football Conference last year.

PREXIES TO MEET COLUMBUS WEST

The Harding Presidents will meet a tough Columbus West team here Saturday at Edison gymnasium.

The Prexy starting line-up will probably be the same that started against Delaware Saturday—Dick Riddle and Dick Gherman at forwards, Dick Thomas and Jim Rea at guards, and Jim Coss at center.

West's Cowboys upset Newark last week to snap their winning streak at 5 straight. Jack Thrush, the Columbus team's star guard, will see plenty of action.

The Cowboys will bring a fast, tall and seasoned team. West has been handed only two defeats this season, one by Springfield, 42-40, and the other by Portsmouth, 43-42, both very close games.

Columbus West will probably be one of the toughest teams the Prexies will meet this season. The Presidents, however, consider the Cowboys as just another team and are going out to try for a win.

The reserve game will start at 7 p. m. and the varsity at 8.

The Syracuse cross-country team finished the dual meet season undefeated.

Blond, 18, To Reign As Rose Bowl Queen

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 18—Virginia Goodhue, 18-year-old blond co-ed at Pasadena's John Muir college, will reign as Rose Queen over the Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's day.

She was selected last night at a ball which honored her and six other finalists in the queen contest. The runners-up will serve as her attendants.

Queen Virginia's formal coronation ball will be held Dec. 29. She is 5 feet, 6½ inches tall, and weighs 116 well-distributed pounds.

PATROL ARRESTS THREE

Three traffic arrests were reported by the state highway patrol today. William Davis, 48, of Huntington, W. Va., was charged with driving without an operator's license and posted a $25 bond in municipal court; David Copely, 35, of Delaware was given a citation for speeding 85 miles per hour on route 23 and ordered to appear in court Dec. 24 to answer charges; and Herman Burling, 20, of near Marion, was charged with failing to stop at a stop sign and is to appear in court Dec. 20.

Last year the Buffalo Bills were the victims of 49 extra point successes in 52 attempts, both all-time records.

WOMEN'S GOOD EARS FOIL JAIL ESCAPE

By The Associated Press

AKRON, Colo., Dec. 18—Two women courthouse employes with sensitive hearing foiled an attempt yesterday by Paul J. Schneider, 22, accused slayer, to saw his way out of the Washington county jail.

Schneider, who goes on trial Jan. 19 charged with murder in the bludgeoning of Frank J. Ford, 47, Denver service station operator, had sawed through one bar of his cell and was halfway through a second bar when his escape attempt was discovered.

Sheriff S. B. Lewis discovered Schneider's bid for freedom after Mrs. Maurine Lane and Mrs. Marijane Keim, clerks in the county treasurer's office, reported hearing a "scraping noise" from the basement jail.

Schneider told the sheriff he obtained the hacksaw blades at the Colorado State hospital in Pueblo where he recently underwent a sanity examination.

He has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. Schneider was arrested last October in Pikesville, Ky. Detective Capt. James J. Pitt of Denver said Schneider told him he had killed two Michigan filling station operators after kidnaping them. That escapade, Pitt said, followed the slaying of Ford whose body was found Oct. 23 near Brush, Colo.

Rule Out Foul Play In Death of Engineer

PORTSMOUTH, O., Dec. 18—Henry C. Wells, 58, of Chillicothe, was killed when he attempted to board a moving freight train, authorities said today in ruling out the possibility he met foul play.

Wells, a Norfolk and Western railroad freight engineer, was found dead on the right of way in nearby New Boston yesterday.

Coroner Virgil Fowler and Chief Deputy Sheriff Burl Justice, who also is New Boston's police chief, said they were convinced there was no foul play.

Foul play was suspected originally, authorities said, because the body was found in the opposite direction Wells would have taken to walk to his room, and because he customarily carried large sums of money.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'M sure you could better the world greatly, if you took up a nurse's career," Dicky told his small daughter chokingly, and she gazed at him with appraising disapproval.

"Now you're 'funning' again," she said, cutting off further utterance as she caught my eye. Katharine looked at her wrist watch.

"Isn't it about time to think about starting," she said.

"The taxis will be at the outside door ten minutes from now," Dicky said.

"Come along, Mary," my kinswoman said, rising. "We'll get into our outdoor togs. I assume, Madge," she gave me a gamin grin, "that you will see to the proper outdoor garb for your child, and your husband."

"Some day, Kathrina," Dicky told her, "I'm going to beat you to a pulp."

"'You wouldn't dast to touch me sir,'" Katharine parodied in tremulous accents, "'if Jack were only here.'"

Faith sent an accusing look at her father, and ran to Katharine.

"He's only funning, Aunt Katharine," she said. "Don't let him scare you!"

"Thank you, darling!" Katharine said. "I'll take your word for that, and I won't worry any more."

She went out of the room with Mary on the word, and Faith turned on her father accusingly.

"You scared Aunt Katharine with your funning," she said. "You oughtn't to be so funny. I understand you, but not all people do."

"Don't let me hear you pulling that line on any other man," Dicky told her, then he caught her up into his arms.

"Little Sweetheart," he said. "I'm sorry I scared Katharine—the dear sweet, simple little soul," he added saccharinely, hoping I knew to tax Mary's risibles and mine "and I'll never be too funny to grown-ups again. But you'll let me have 'funnings' with you, won't you?"

"If you didn't, it'd break my heart,' his small daughter told him, and he preened himself as he looked at me.

"I guess that sort of defines my status around here," he said.

"The taxi men will define the words 'wait' and 'meter' if you don't hurry," I told him, and he docilely went for his outdoor clothing, while I put Faith into hers, and donned my own hat and coat. Katharine and Mary came back into the room as I finished, and in another minute we were going down the elevator, Dicky carrying Olga's pudding, and the rest of us laden with our other offerings to Dicky's mother, for so long a time confined to her hospital bed.

Our taxi trip was quick, and our path to Mother Graham's room made smooth and swift because of our frequent visits to her. But in the corridor outside we halted.

"We'll sit in this little waiting room at the end of the corridor, while you go in, Madge, and prepare her for the rest of us."

"Why does she have to be 'prepared'?" Faith piped, but I did not hear Katharine's answer. She, Mary and Dicky, whisked Faith away, and I knocked at my mother-in-law's door which was ajar.

She turned her head quickly, and a smile came to her lips as she saw me. But when I came in alone, she looked around disappointed.

"Didn't Faith come with you?" she asked.

"Indeed she did," I told her "She's in the waiting room with Dicky."

Purposely I waited to tell her of Mary's presence. I wanted her to have the tonic of the disclosures my father was permitting me to make to her, before she should be fluttered by the knowledge of her beloved granddaughter's first visit to her after her long absence at the western sanatarium.

"Then why," she asked a bit testily, "didn't they come in with you?"

"Because," I told her as impressively as possible, "my father wished me to see you first, and explain why I shall have to leave for Sag Harbor tonight, and we all may have to go down for a few days. It's a most interesting 'hush-hush' story, and he wanted you to know of it as soon as possible."

C. L. OF C. CHRISTMAS PARTY

A Christmas party and social evening was held by the Catholic Ladies of Columbia Monday night in the community house. Awards in cards were won by Mrs. Marie McAndrew and Mrs. Josie Cusick. A gift exchange was held. Refreshments were served. Arrangements were in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Genevieve McKinney, Mrs. Helen Wilmes and Mrs. Jean Dunn.

NEEDS STEADY HAND. A steady hand and a keen eye are needed by Stephen Kesty as he undertakes the delicate task of overhauling poisonous hydrogen gas detectors from U. S. Navy wartime submarines. Shown at a laboratory in Hillside, N. J., he is using an acetylene torch of microscopic size to test a cylinder.

FOUR CUB SCOUTS GIVEN ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Achievement awards were presented to four Cub Scouts when Cub Pack 39 of Emmanuel Baptist church met Monday night at the church house. Jimmy Highland was awarded a silver arrow, and David Rowland, Charles Edler and Buddy Whaley were awarded Bobcat pins. The presentations were made by Paul Highland.

Richard Morris, Cubmaster, presided for the meeting and Scripture was read by Dr. C. E. Hershey. An announcement was made of a Scout leaders meeting to be held Thursday night at the Scout office. The new pack flag was shown to the group, and moving pictures of the Boy Scout pilgrimage were shown by Marion Brown. Prayer by Dr. Hershey closed the meeting. Wastebaskets which had been made by the boys as Christmas presents for their parents were presented to them.

SANTA ENROLLS IN NAVY IN CEREMONY HELD HERE

The Navy believes in Santa Claus. In fact, Old Saint Nick is now a member of that branch of the service. In a brief ceremony at the courthouse yesterday afternoon the man with the long whiskers was presented an arm brassard of the Navy recruiting service and made an honorary member of that service.

Attending the ceremony were CCM J. T. Daley of Mansfield, Lester Watts, former Chief F D. Maxwell and CCM C. T. Prusnek of the Marion office. Now that Saint Nick is in the Navy it was not made clear whether he will make his trip from the north in a battleship or Naval plane rather than his old-fashioned sleigh behind the reindeers.

65 New Cars Sold In County in Two Weeks

Sixty-five new automobiles and nine trucks were sold in Marion county during the two-week period Dec. 3-17, according to records in the office of Calvin Oborn, clerk of courts. For the week previous, the last in November, 28 cars and a single truck were sold.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS IN CITY COMPLETE

Kiwanis Club Committee and Churches Assemble Results.

The religious census recently taken in the city of Marion by the Kiwanis club, in cooperation with the churches, has now been completed with the exception of those homes where the canvassers were not able to make contact with the families. The cards have been tabulated showing that 6,508 homes claimed to have some church connection; 436 families gave no connection with any church; and 33 refused any information to the canvassers regarding church affiliations; 20 houses were listed as vacant, and 1,030 families were not at home when the canvassers called. The information was obtained from many homes by telephone when the canvassers had not found the people at home on the first visit. Callers numbering 200 made a total of 8,027 calls, and 12 other people assisted in tabulating the cards. A total of 50 churches were listed in the "church preference" column.

Dr. G. G. Nuetzel is chairman of the church committee of the Kiwanis club, and directed the campaign canvass. Serving with him on the committee is John H. Clark, Robert O'Connell, Rev. J. B. Holloway, A. C. May, Larry Sager, and Tom Scott. Approximately 50 Kiwanians and their wives assisted in the canvass.

The cards showing local church preference have been sorted for distribution to the pastors of the local churches, where the preference is shown, and all other cards will be left in the custody of the evangelistic committee of the Marion Ministerial association of which Rev. R. W. Faulkner is chairman. He was a guest of the Kiwanis club today to receive the report and the cards from the Kiwanis club.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

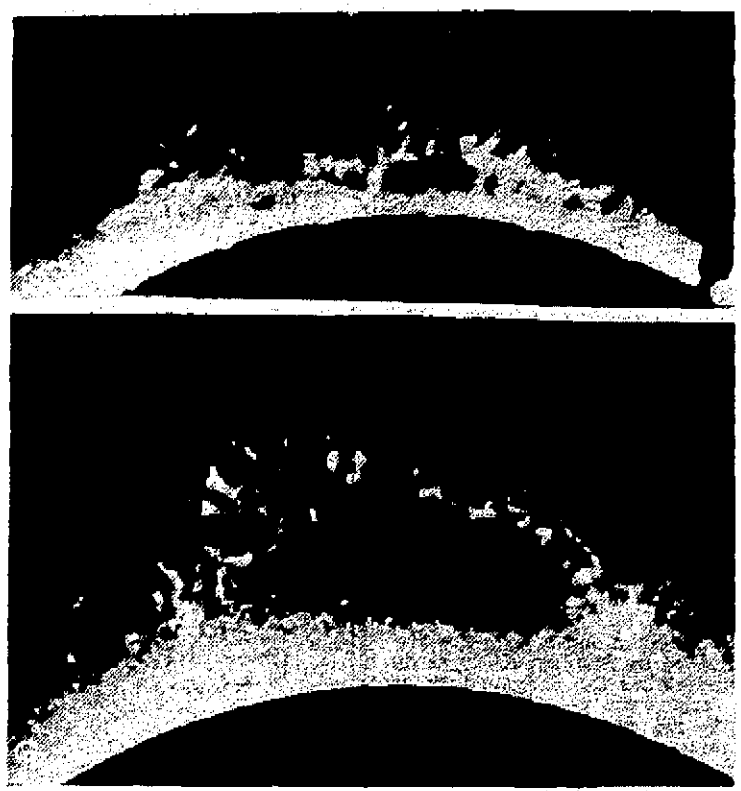
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.



MILLION-MILE SOLAR EXPLOSION. These rare pictures show the record-breaking explosion that last year hurled flaming, gaseous material over a million miles above the sun's surface. Top, flaming gas arcs above the rim of the sun (black). Below, the arc rises higher, eventually reaching 1,064,185 miles. The photos were made over a two-week period at Mount Wilson Observatory in California. Measurements were completed recently.

Paramount Council Marks Anniversaries

Members having birthday anniversaries in the current quarter of the year were honor guests at a dinner given by Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, Tuesday in the Odd Fellows hall. Covers were placed for 31 at tables decorated with lighted tapers and Christmas motifs. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Jane Shappard, chairman, and her committee.

Mrs. Mary Collins, councillor, was in charge of a business session. It was voted to send a Christmas gift to a member living at the national home in Tiffin and also to contribute money for a treat for the residents of the home and orphans. Announcement was made of installation and degree practice at the next meeting, and a Christmas party to be held by the past councillors Dec. 23 at Ringer's inn.

A Christmas program and gift exchange was in charge of Mrs. Thurza Jones. Taking part were Mrs. Ella Dutcher, Mrs. Mildred Rayner, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Dessie Carpenter, Mrs. Alma Eddy, Mrs. Hazel Schiller and Miss Ruth Schiller.

Senior Bible Classes Hold Potluck Supper

Senior Bible clases of Emanuel Lutheran Sunday school met for a potluck supper and Christmas party Tuesday night in the church parlors. The supper was served at long tables decorated with Christmas motifs and lighted candles.

For the program a Christmas story was given by Mrs. William Boger and readings were by Mrs. Henry Dawson, Mrs. Elmer Bentley and Mrs. Sophia Leffler. The history of the hymn, "Silent Night," was given by Mrs. Leo Bosley and a duet was sung by Mrs. Claude McClaskey and Mrs. Matilda Laucher. Gifts were distributed by a Santa Claus. Arrangements were in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Matilda Sinning, chairman, Mrs. Mary Fetter, Mrs. Laucher and Mr. and Mrs. William Collins.

4 Named to Board Of Galion Youth Center

Special to The Star

GALION—Four members were elected to the board of directors of the Youth Community Center of Galion, at the annual meeting, Monday night in the Youth Center rooms. Mrs. Robert Fink and Mrs. M. D. Bonsteel were reelected to the board along with two new members, Mrs. Ivan Cass and Mrs. John Mortland. Other members of the board are: M. A. Povenmire, E. R. Rehm, Mrs. Henry Stough, Marvin Adams and Mrs. C. F. Boyd who as director of the youth center is automatically a member of the board.

A. David Bouterse, executive director of the Ohio Welfare Council, addressed the group. Bouterse who has had 18 years of welfare work, having served as welfare director on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff during the war, concluded his talk by saying, "The character of a community will depend upon how the people work together, and what they do for our youth."

Two high school students, George Zaebst and Carol Robinson, who attend the Youth Center, told of its activities. They extended thanks to Robert Fink who repaired the ping pong equipment for the center, and to W. C. Deaton who furnished the center with a new juke box.

Cite Way To Meet Fire Hazards In Christmas Season

Because of the increased fire hazards in homes and business places during the Christmas season, the fire prevention committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce has prepared the following article on methods of combating the menace. The article gives a number of timely hints on means of reducing the Christmas season fire hazard.

* * *

Every year, from a few days before Christmas to a few weeks after New Year's, a plague of fires rages up and down the country. Many of these fires are the result of hazards which exist only during the holiday season; of carelessness which would not be tolerated at any other time.

Your Christmas tree and the decorations on it are fire hazards which you will want to watch most carefully this Christmas. Remember when you bring a tree into your house it is going to dry up. A fresh cut tree will not take fire any more easily during the first day or two than would the ever-green shrubs growing outside but it becomes a more serious fire hazard every hour. At the end of a week, it will be highly inflammable. It is best to bring in a fresh tree as short a time before Christmas as possible, and to remove it as soon afterwards as you can. If you do this, ordinary precautions should prevent it from taking fire. If the tree isn't a fresh one keep the base of the tree soaked in water. The tree should also be kept away from stoves, radiators, and other sources of heat. When you smoke, keep away from the tree. The tree should be so placed that standing or fallen, it cannot block a doorway which might be needed to escape from the room.

Don't burn candles on your Christmas tree. If you have electric lights be sure wiring is in good condition and that the lights don't overload the circuit.

With regard to decorations be sure you use flameproofed materials. Try to use metal, glass or asbestos decorations. Don't use cotton and pyroylin materials.

Christmas wrapping burns like tinder and should be removed as soon as possible. See that all wrappings go into the waste basket and that it is taken out and dumped in a covered metal barrel or incinerator as soon as it is filled. Be careful of heat operated toys and new electrical gadgets if they do not bear the label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

The above information also applies to public buildings. One other thing — sprinklers, hand hose and fire extinguishers should be kept ready to operate. Even buckets of water, widely distributed, may mean a difference between a trivial flareup and a holocaust.

STATUE FOR ST. PETER'S—As a crowd watches, a giant marble statue of Mother Cabrini, the first American saint, is started in its crate into St. Peter's in Rome.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE former court beautician for Queen Marie of Rumania says the American divorce rate would fall if husbands would learn to look in a mirror.

"The secret formula is to look in the mirorr long enough to learn how to glamorize yourself for your wife," said bushy-haired Donu Edmond.

"You only count what you look like, and if the husband keeps his glamor the wife will no longer think she has the freedom to be sloppy, and they both like each other better."

Hal Boyle

Edmond, who operates a glitter belt "House of Beauty" only a ten-karat stone's throw from Fifth avenue, believes the average American husband is about as glamorous as a sheep dog with mange.

"Really it is him that is the whole mistake," continued the Egyptian-born beautician.

"If he would get a hold of himself and become a glamor boy, the marriage it would last longer. The glamor—it must begin before breakfast."

THIS MEANS, he indicated, that the husband should quit letting his wife see him when he first turns off the alarm clock, yawning and scratching himself. Instead he should go to the bathroom, shave, comb his hair and come back in a fancy dressing gown before arousing the sleeping beauty he is wedded to.

"Women like movie actors because of their voices," Edmond went on. "A husband can make the voice glamorous by speaking very slowly. Then his words have thoughts behind them.

"Speak distinctly. Don't give the woman the chance to say, 'What did you say, dear?' She will have lost the interest, and you will be annoyed."

Some other Edmond tips on how to keep a glamor hammerlock on your better half:

"Most men go to the barber and say, 'Gimme the works.' That means the barber always decided how they look. If the barber is a glamorous man himself, you're hokay. But how many barbers are glamorous?

"Don't let the hair grow from the nose. Trim it. Trim the eyebrows too.

"Pay attention to the mustache. A tall man should wear a French mustache. A writer or a serious man should wear a heavier mustache—a la Clemenceau. Never wear a waxed, turned up mustache—it is like the cheap villain.

"ANY MAN SHOULD wear a beard who can wear one. But every profession can't wear a beard—it is no good on the soda jerk. But a doctor, a dentist, an independent business man—yes, hokay.

"Don't let any woman tell you she won't like you with a beard. It gives you a he-man look—if it is a nice clean beard. A man who can wear a beard adds 10 per cent to his glamor."

Edmond has a separate door at his establishment for men. His male patrons are largely people who have to meet the public—"actors, doctors, big headwaiters and military men. I have treated 700 sailors whose hair fell out from nervousness."

Edmond is also explicit on how wives can help keep down divorces.

"American women are too sure of themselves," he said. "They should be thinking always of their beauty, then they would keep the mouth shut. There is nothing like a woman making mistakes because the mouth is open."

Edmond looked a little dreamy when I asked him what had been the secret of Queen Marie's beauty. He finally boiled it down to posture and social charm, then added:

"Her ankles were a little too heavy, but the legs—they weren't bad at all."

W. H. KNOWLES INSTALLED AS MASTER OF GRANGE

W. H. Knowles was installed as master of Kirkpatrick Grange at a meeting Tuesday night in the Grange hall.

Also taking office were Milton Hord, overseer; Mrs. Jasper Hill, lecturer; Harry Longacre, steward; Stanley Pickett, assistant steward; Mrs. Eugene Baumgardner, chaplain; Earl Speece, treasurer; Mrs. Earl Speece, secretary; Melvin Hill, gatekeeper; Mrs. Melvin Hill, Pomona; Mrs. Bruce Campbell, Flora, and Mrs. Helen Pickett, lady assistant steward.

Deputy Master and Mrs. E. A. Williams conducted the installation, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady of Grand Prairie Grange, Mrs. Flossie Beers and Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Kirkpatrick Grange.

Earl Speeve and Milton Hord were named on a committee to plan a package for a needy family for Christmas. Master Williams gave a short talk and announced an officers' meeting to be held Jan. 1. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bruce Campbell, Mrs. Irene Baumgardner, Mrs. Jasper Hill and daughter, Ruth Ann Hill.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Infection Carried by Rabbits

Some diseases which we have come to dread are not primarily human afflictions at all. Ordinarily they prey on animals, never attacking man unless, by some chance, he comes in contact with an infected animal.

One such ailment is tularemia which occurs naturally in rabbits, and thus gets its popular name of rabbit fever. Ground squirrels, wild rats, and field mice may also harbor the infection, and man may get it from these sources indirectly through the bite of a wood tick or a fly which has fed on the infected rodents.

Usually, at the point where the infection enters the skin, an ulcer forms, and the lymph glands in the surrounding area become enlarged. The infection then may spread and affect the spleen, liver and lungs.

The symptoms develop within from one to ten days after the bite occurs. The disorder begins suddenly with a feeling of sickness chills, fever, and headache. The temperature at first may vary from 100 to 104 degrees. This fever usually lasts for from two to three days; then the temperature falls to normal for about a two-day period. It again rises and the fever may continue for several weeks. When the fever disappears, there may be a prolonged period of weakness which may last for from three to six months.

The diagnosis may be confirmed by finding the tularemia germ either in the sore where the bite occurred or in the blood during the first week of the disease.

In general, the outlook (as to life) for persons with this condition is good, but there is a prolonged period of debility or weakness lasting for months. In some cases, such complications as pneumonia or meningitis may occur and, of course, these complications are extremely dangerous and often fatal.

Every effort should be made to prevent this disorder. Persons who handle wild rabbits should wear rubber gloves and protect the eyes from infected material.

Insofar as the treatment of tularemia is concerned, such things as the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin have not been found effective. Within the past year, however, evidence has been presented which indicates that streptomycin is of value in the treatment of this disorder.

Questions and Answers

G. W.: Do cataracts form on an eye which has been operated on for glaucoma?

Answer: Cataracts do not necessarily form under these circumstances, although they may occur. In the event that they do, however, their operative removal involves no additional risk.

The treatment consists in the use of such tonics as arsenic, iron, and cod-liver oil, if the health is below par. Hexamine has been employed, and the use of various local ointments has been suggested.

VETERAN SHOOTS LEG HIT BY JAP BULLET

By The Associated Press

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 17 — A Jap bullet shattered the left leg of Lawrence Westover, 39, in New Guinea.

An Army surgeon used a silver plate to strengthen it but this was later removed. Westover said he suffered terrible pains and treatment "didn't seem to help."

Finally he could stand it no more. State Policeman Matthew J. O'Brien reported Westover went out on his back porch last night and blasted the aching leg off with a 12-gauge shotgun.

In a hospital, surgeons completed the below-the-knee amputation.

CHAPTER 15

The Scarf Is Stolen

15

HE LAUGHED OUT LOUD IN HAPPY RELIEF.

THE Bajoluka scarf is a thing of such loveliness that just to look at it gladdens the heart. It is said that thousands of years ago the Bajoluka fairies embroidered it with threads they made of moonbeams and firelight, children's laughter and lovers' tears, and all the most beautiful things they could find in the world.

Now it lay on display in a jeweler's showcase and if Tom Clover stole it Mr. Sleek promised to give him a star.

After Mr. Sleek, disguised as an elegant lady, had gone Tom sat by the cold stove and thought and thought.

Presently his mother came home from work. "Come," she said, seeing Tom so sad. "The streets are filled with Christmas shoppers. Let us join them and look in the windows. That, at least, will cost no money."

They went into the crowded streets and Tom said, "Let us go look in the jeweler's store." Even as he said it, his heart was filled with fear for he hardly knew what he planned to do.

Would he steal? Could he possibly do such a wicked thing?

His mother laughed. "Why yes," she agreed. "We might as well look at precious stones as any other things."

They walked on and with every step Tom's feet seemed to get heavier and his breath shorter. "How pale you are!" exclaimed his mother.

"I'm all right," murmured Tom, but, in truth, he was nearly in a faint and he wanted to cry out, "Oh, mother! If I do this awful thing will you love me still?"

Finally they came to the jeweler's. "Do you think we should go in?" asked the mother.

"Yes, come," ordered Tom in an angry voice.

A GLASS case stood in the center of the shop and in the case was the Bajoluka scarf. Visitors clustered around it and cried out with delight just to gaze at the fabulous piece.

"Oh, Tom, just look!" whispered his mother. "Was there ever anything so beautiful in the world!"

Tom's mouth was dry and his knees were like jelly but he forced himself to look and instantly the fear left his heart and the shaking left his knees and the hardness went out of his eyes steal.

"What could I have been thinking of!" he cried to himself and he laughed out loud in happy relief.

A woman on the other side the showcase coughed and Tom thought, "Good heavens! It is the woman who came to see me this afternoon!"

In truth it was the evil Mr. Sleek but before Tom could speak aloud a terrible thing happened: the lights in the store went out!

Women screamed, glass crashed, men shouted.

The darkness lasted but a moment and then the lights were on again. People blinked and stared at one another: "What a scare!" they said and began to laugh a little.

But the jeweler who owned the store suddenly screamed, "The scarf! The Bajoluka scarf!"

Everyone turned to the case which had held the scarf. The glass was shattered and the precious piece was gone!

WHAT confusion followed! The police came but though they hunted everywhere they could not find the scarf.

Tom Clover's mother said, "Only someone very wicked could have done such a thing." Tom shuddered to think it might have been himself. "They will find who stole it," he said, "before they let us leave."

"Yes," said his mother. "They are bound to find out soon.'

Just then Tom saw his elegant lady visitor again. She was talking to the police and pointing toward him. The police listened with interest. Presently they came over to Tom.

"There is the one who stole the scarf," said the elegant lady. "I'm sure I couldn't be wrong. I heard him planning to steal it not an hour ago."

Tom's mother turned white and Tom gasped aloud. "Why," he thought, "she must have stolen it herself and now is blaming me!"

But before he could think of a word to say the police took his arm and led him away.

Ancient Caucasian Treasure Discovered

By The United Press

MOSCOW — Soviet archaeologists have uncovered a treasure cache buried by Caucasian tribesmen 2,600 years ago.

In it they found new evidence to support the theory that the mid-Caucasian mountains and valleys were one of the cradles of civilization.

Vases, bronze axes, open-work azure dagger sheaths, drinking cups and small pieces of colored metal work were found in the hillside cache. They were in perfect condition and expertly tooled, according to the experts.

The archaeologists were directed to the treasure by a farmer who had been helping a road gang.

He discovered a cave and, upon entering it, stumbled across a flagstone. The treasure was beneath it.

The expedition also discovered the oldest central Caucasus burial ground yet unearthed. It was believed to date back to some time in the second thousand years before Christ.

YULE PARTIES HELD FOR COUNTY WARDS

Crawford Co. Children Have Full Round of Treats.

Special to The Star

GALION—The Christmas season is already in full swing at the Crawford County Children's home here and by all indications the 54 children there are going to have one of the most entertaining seasons in many years through the efforts of individuals, groups and organizations in Galion and surrounding towns.

The children are in the midst of many activities. They are not only being entertained by groups, but are taking part in programs of both church and school. The Children's Home chorus of 35 voices has made several appearances to sing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

On Sunday afternoon, the children were entertained by a group of musicians from Marion. The musicians, including Mrs. Fannie Benson, pianist, three school music supervisors, and Glen Johnson, orchestra leader, together with his accordion player, Bill Johnson, presented a program of instrumental and vocal selections. A church group from Chatfield also came to the home Sunday to present the children gifts and a treat in addition to a program.

About 40 of the children went to Mansfield Wednesday night for a skating party at the coliseum. The children were driven to Mansfield in a bus provided by Police Chief James L. Walker of Galion who helped plan the party. Everything, including skates, was free.

Tonight the children will be guests of the Moose at a party at the Moose hall.

The week will be climaxed, however, with the party at the home which has been planned by Supt. and Mrs. Marvin O. Adams with the assistance of the children. This is set for Friday night in the main dining room of the home where a large lighted Christmas tree has been placed, together with other yuletide decorations. While the children ordinarily have movies at the home twice during the week, Supt. Adams has arranged to have extra pictures shown during the holiday season.

AVERAGE LIFE SPAN UP 25 YEARS IN A CENTURY

By The United Press

NEW YORK — The average length of life in the Western World has increased 25 years in the last century, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. reported.

The increase was more than had occurred in all prior centuries since man's earliest days, the company said. Prehistoric man is believed to have had a life expectancy of no more than 18 years. In the time of the Romans it was 25 years; in the 18th centry, 35 years, and now is 65 years.

In about 10 or 20 years, it should ris to the Biblical three-score and ten, the company estimated.

PTOMAINE TAVERN?

ST. LOUIS—Charles van Ravenswaay, director of the Missouri Historical society, wrote recently in a bulletin of the organization: "Not so long ago we found ourselves in a small northeast Missouri town at noon. Not knowing where we might be able to get lunch, we asked a local resident. 'Friend,' he said, "there's two restaurants here. "If you eat in one you'll wish you ate in the other'."

PRIEST DRAWS GRIM VIEW OF RED THREAT

By The United Press

ST. PAUL—The United States, on the brink of famine, is seized by Moscow-directed Communists who first stir up riots, strikes and religious prejudice on a nationwide scale.

The downfall of democracy is swift, complete—and simple.

That is the picture shown in "Is This Tomorrow?" a comic-book type of publication—one edition only—released by a St. Paul Catholic priest as part of his continuing campaign against Communism.

Rev. Louis A. Gales draws a grim picture in his 48-page booklet, the way of warning young Americans what they would face under a Communist dictatorship.

The booklet ends on a depressing note with no solution offered, but even now editorial succor is on the way in a sequel, "This Is the Answer," currently on Father Gales' planning desk.

Since before the war, the priest has engaged in a fight against Communism and all other forms of totalitarianism. He does it from his office in the Catechetical Guild Education society, publishing house of Catholic teaching aids.

Father Gales' field has been the fertile minds of young people, where he feels the seeds of democracy must be planted firmly to prevent the spread of authoritarian principles.

During the war, the Guild suspended its anti-Communist publications "because of the complicated international set-up."

"But in the light of today's events," Father Gales said, "we feel we must resume. We should use every strength to expose the aims and purposes of the Soviet system."

The booklet will champion living wages for all, private property, balanced prices and profit sharing.

"We're not pulling any of our punches," Father Gales said.

Stolen Bus Recovered While Blocking Traffic

By The United Press

NEW YORK — A police desk sergeant called the offices of the Eighth Avenue Coach Corporation and asked:

"Did you fellows lose a bus?"

Company officials said they did not know, but would check. They found that a $16,500, 44-passenger Diesel bus had been stolen from the company garage.

Police told the company to come and get it. The thief had abandoned it six miles from the garage, blocking traffic.

JET ENGINED MODEL "PLANE OF FUTURE"

By International News Service

LONDON—Following the recent successful tests of Britain's plane of the future—a tailless, jet engined model—plans are being made to commerce production of prototypes of bombers and transport "flying wings."

After the "flying wings" 20 minute flight on wind swept Boscomb Down, the ministry of supply announced that the test "realized all designers' expectations."

The whole of its load-carrying space and control compartments, engines and gas tanks, are contained in its wings.

Squadron-Leader E. G. Franklin, senior test pilot of Armstrong-Whitworth, took the "flying-wing off and put it through its paces.

Scientists are convinced that its design is the only possible one for fast and economic flight in the future. The ministry of supply spokesman, afterwards stated:

"The plane should be regarded as a research aircraft, which will provide a lot of most useful information for our scientific research workers and aeronautical manufacturers."

Amazed eye-witnesses said the plane took off "very fast" did several circuits and flew away, apparently far from its full capacity.

BRITISH SCIENTISTS ON CANCER'S TRAIL

By International News Service

LONDON—Three British medical scientists have pledged themselves to two years intensive research in the hope of finding a relief for cancer victims.

Financed by the North of England Cancer Council Professor W. E. Curtis, with Dr. C. J. Thurger and Dr. F. T. Farmer, will experiment with ultra-short wave radio to combat the disease.

Experiments with radio were developed largely during the war and the three specialists believe that radio treatment may prove beneficial to cancer victims.

Short-wave radio research really started before the war, but in 1939 all available equipment was commandeered by the Royal Air Force.

"Early in our experiments we discover what effects the short-wave will have on the body," said Dr. Thurger. "We do not yet know whether they will cure cancer without having any ill effect elsewhere."

All members of the research team stressed they did not want to build up false hopes but they were confident that ultra-short-waves would probably cure some forms of cancer.

The Cancer Council have granted the scientists $20,000 toward the experiments.

Slowly Turns to Stone As Medical Aid Fails

By The United Press

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Luther Hatcher, 29, is turning gradually to stone.

For 19 years he's watched doctors in five hospitals try to find something to help him. None has been able to do anything.

Luther is suffering from a form of myositis, an inflammation of the muscles accompanied by bony deposits all over his body. His ailment was discovered when he was about 10 years old, and his condition gradually has become worse.

For 10 years his body has been so stiff that he can hardly move. He can walk around a little, aided by a cane, if someone stands him on his feet.

NEW TECHNIQUE SPURS TELEVISION

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH—A rubber topped table where bronze balls about the size of BB shot roll back and forth is cutting three months off the time necessary to test new electronic tube designs for television, radio, and radar.

This new technique in designing new vacuum tubes is being used by the engineers at the Westinghouse research laboratory in East Pittsburgh.

They call it the "make believe" model.

The tiny bronze balls play the part of electronics speeding from one end of an active tube to the other.

At present, the "electron model table" is playing an important part in the development of a new high-power television tube.

R. O. McIntosh, electronics engineer in the Westinghouse laboratory, explained it this way:

"By using this make-believe model, we can produce approximate replicas of most kinds of tubes used in radio, television and radar."

To play their electron game, the Westinghouse research men stretch a thin piece of rubber — measuring only a few hundredths of an inch in thickness—across an area about the size of a dining room table.

The electrons, tiny negative particles of electricity, are simulated by the small bronze balls, which weigh only 1/14th of an ounce each.

Gunman Picks Wrong Victim for Holdup

Sullivan obliged, even lighting the cigaret for him. The man pulled a pistol from his shirt and jammed it against Sullivan's stomach. Langert whirled, knocked him down with a quick blow between the eyes and took the pistol.

The man was identified as Mike Gill, 36, and was charged with felonious assault and illegal possession of a pistol.

The men he tried to hold up are New York City detectives.

Once Burglarized, He Finds Remedy

ST. LOUIS—Sometimes lightning does strike twice in the same place, decided James Steward, proprietor of a cleaning and pressing shop.

After a burglar broke into his store and stole 11 suits, Steward began sleeping in the shop with a loaded rifle by his bed. About two weeks later, he was awakened by the crash of glass. He ran with his gun to the front of the shop. There he found a man half-way over the smashed transom. Steward held him covered while he called police.

HUSBAND RULES ROOST, GEORGIA COURT DECIDES

By The United Press

MACON, Ga.—Judge A. M. Anderson has ruled that the man is the head of the house under Georgia law.

The Bibb County Superior Court jurist was hearing a case in which George Davis, alias George Ingram, was charged with burglarizing the home of Rosa Mae Collins.

It was brought out that the complainant was married and lived in the house with her husband. So Davis' attorney moved that the charge of burglary be quashed, since the woman's house actually belonged to her husband.

Judge Anderson upheld the motion. The charge was reduced to simple larceny of a radio, which everybody agreed belonged to the woman.

HISTORIC ARSENAL GATE FALLS BEFORE WRECKERS

By The United Press

PITTSBURGH — Historic Allegheny arsenal gate, where Lafayette once reviewed troops, is falling beneath the wreckers' picks.

The ancient crenallated stone tower and walls, built in 1814 to protect the arsenal itself, were ordered razed to eliminate a a traffic hazard.

The gate and its quarters were used in every major U. S. war after its construction and was the scene of a tragedy in 1862 when 74 girl munition workers died in an explosion in the arsenal.

The net savings of individuals in the United States rose from $7.3 billion in 1940 to $38.9 billion in 1944, but declined in subsequent years.

Michigan Ex-Governor Gives Park to Georgia

By The United Press

ATLANTA, Ga.—Former Gov. Chase S. Osborn of Michigan has deeded his 15-acre winter estate in Worth county to Georgia for use as a state park.

The property, known as Possum Poke in Possum Lane, was offered to Gov. M. E. Thompson with two strings attached:

(1) Osborn reserved a life right to the estate, where he has been spending his winters for many years, for himself and his daughter, Stella Brunt Osborn.

(2) He said he wanted "to extend to two Afro-Americans, Ethel Lee Rhymes and Lula Mae Tolbert," the right to live in their present quarters there as long as they wished.

AMERICAN BEAUTY FADING

By The United Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Mrs. Helen Hutson Weber, director of the national rose show held here, revealed that the show did not exhibit any specimens of the country's most famous rose—the American Beauty. For three decades, she says, florists have been palming off the Red Delicious and Rome Glory for the published Beauty because of its "unpredictable temperament."
